Riders Don't Know How to Die—Again!

WIRE BRIEFS

Peron's Boys: Blamed

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Bombings and shootings shook this capital Wednesday night and today. Police blamed resurgent backers of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron and other nationalist groups.

Leaders Meet

PARIS (AP)—President de Gaulle of France and West German Chancellor Erhard met for 90 minutes in man-to-man private talks today. Erhard said later the atmosphere was "very good."

Newspapers Closed

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI)—Military leaders of South Viet Nam's revolutionary government closed two newspapers today and announced formation of committees to investigate alleged abuses by the regime of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Arson Feared

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—A general alarm fire destroyed the Surf Theatre and threatened a chemical plant here early today, and police investigated the possibility it had been set intentionally.

Rail Wage Talks

MONTREAL (CP)—Negotiators from seven railways and unions representing 80,000 of their non-operating employees met today for almost two hours in the opening round of talks aimed at reaching agreement on a new labor contract.

VANCOUVER — Saskatchewan Roughriders, a team twice placed in a football coffin, rose again Wednesday night.

The medium was a 13-8 victory over British Columbia Lions in mud and snow that tied the Western Football Conference best-of-three final.

The Lions and Riders meet here again Saturday afternoon to decide who will represent the West in the Nov. 30 Grey Cup.

Roughriders are a bunch of "beat-up Raggedy Andys" held together with adhesive tape—almost a mile of it—but they keep on winning games and astounding oddsmakers.

They won their way to the final round by overcoming a 26-point deficit to beat Calgary Stampeders in the semifinals. After losing to Lions, 19-7, in the series opener Saskatchewan went into Wednesday's game at Empire Stadium as 16-point underdogs.

Not Supermen; Not Really

"These guys aren't superhuman; they're not supermen who have been working miracles."

"Sure they're a bunch of beat-up, Raggedy Andys..." A number of the Riders are still bruised up from previous games but no serious injuries were suffered by the team Wednesday night.

Lions also avoided injuries as the underdog Riders handed B.C. its first home loss of the season. "I don't think we

Again, the "Raggedy Andys" confounded the experts.

The "Raggedy Andys" tag came from Saskatchewan coach Bob Shaw, who admits he doesn't know how his team does it, injuries and all.

Trainer Sandy Archer admits he's been keeping the team together with adhesive tape.

"For every game," he said, "I go through 56 rolls of large-size tape, a dozen cans of elastic bandages and 36 rolls of three-inch adhesive."

"That's about 1,400 yards of tape—nearly a mile."

Said Coach Shaw: "You just don't explain how we've kept coming back and winning when—so the experts keep saying and writing—we should not be."

THREE DAYS FOR FREE—MAYBE

VANCOUVER (CP)—About 34 Saskatchewan Roughriders fans today accepted an offer by a downtown hotel to gamble their hotel bills on whether the Riders win the Western Football Conference final.

Frank Baker, owner of the Georgian Towers Hotel, said that any Saskatchewan fans staying at the hotel for Wednesday's game would not have to pay should Riders win the final.

"After Saskatchewan beat the Lions Wednesday night, most of the Saskatchewan fans agreed to stay on until Saturday's final game," said Mr. Baker.

"I don't really know whether it was because of the hotel's offer. It looks more likely they were glad Saskatchewan was still in the final and they just wanted to hang on for Saturday's game."

What happens if Riders do win the game Saturday to represent the west in the Grey Cup?

Dief Urges PM Appeal

OTTAWA (UPI)—Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson was asked today to appeal directly to Cuban premier Fidel Castro on behalf of two Canadians facing espionage charges in Havana.

The request came from opposition leader John Diefenbaker who suggested in the Commons that such a direct appeal would achieve "a lot more" than normal diplomatic contacts at the official level.

OLD WOMAN'S DEATHBED WISH

Horses, Ponies to Be Destroyed

POLEGATE, England (AP)—Eighteen healthy horses and ponies face execution because of a 68-year-old woman's deathbed wish.

"It's monstrous that they should be killed," said Richard Groome, 63, instructor at the riding school which owns the animals. "They are all fit and healthy."

Some years ago Mrs. Winifred MacPherson and her friend, Janet Bell, founded the Wayfarers Riding School.

Before she died last week, Mrs. MacPherson made Miss Bell—now 84—promise to have the horses and ponies destroyed. She repeated her wish in her will.

Miss Bell promised to comply when the stables close. They are expected to shut down Saturday.

"I've been a lover of horses all my life," said Miss Bell,

"but I can say no more. I'm sorry."

She said she planned to have the horses "put to sleep." Miss Bell has refused to say why her partner wanted the animals killed.

Hear the popular toast in Regina last night was "Kapps off 'B.C."

Spy Plane Wreckage Found

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—The wreckage of a WU-2 spy plane which vanished Wednesday presumably after a mission over Cuba, was found today 11-100-foot-deep water in the Gulf of Mexico. The body of the pilot was not in the cockpit.

An air-sea search by navy and coast guard planes and surface craft was continued for the pilot, Capt. Joe G. Hyde Jr. of Lagrange, Ga.

Capt. Ernest H. Dunlap, chief of staff to the commander of the Key West navy base, said two navy salvage vessels had reached the wreckage and determined that the pilot was not in the cockpit.

Earlier, the coast guard cutter Nemesis had reported finding debris at the spot 40 miles northwest of Key West and 180 miles north of the coast of Communist Cuba.

It was at this place, at 10:32 a.m. Wednesday, that Hyde's plane vanished from radar scopes, and where another aircraft eight minutes later reported sighting an oil slick.

At Strategic Air Command headquarters at Omaha, a spokesman said it was believed that the crash was caused by mechanical failure. Both SAC and the defence department said there was no evidence of hostile action against the plane.

The Cuban radio reported merely that a WU-2 "which might have been on reconnaissance activities over Cuba," had crashed in the gulf, presumably because of "a mechanical fault."

United Front Urged

MONTREAL (CP)—Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labour Congress, called on Canadian workers today to form a united front against the Seafarers' International Union (Ind.), which he described as a union in name only.

Speaking in French, he told the opening session of the Quebec Federation of Labour's annual convention that the CLC is an autonomous labor body which "refuses to agree that the labor movement be controlled by people who want nothing but its destruction, whether they be Communists, Fascists, Nazis or gangsters."

A united front was more necessary now than ever "because our adversaries are the same from one end of the country to the other."

"Reactionary interests are seeking to demolish our movement," Mr. Jodoin said. "All Canadian workers must join hands and co-operate in establishing the greatest possible uniformity in working conditions and social welfare benefits."

Searchers Race Time

PENTICTON (CP)—The search for a U.S. Air Force pilot missing in snow-covered mountain country near here has become a race against time.

Search officials say Pte. Lt. Robert Boucher, 25, of Spokane, has "three days' emergency rations left. His radio battery would have gone flat days ago."

Boucher has been missing since last Thursday when he apparently bailed out before his Scorpion F-89 jet crashed 40 miles south of here on the northern Cascade Mountains.

THIEVES TAKE 6 HOURS TO PICK 'CHOICE' FURS

MONTREAL (UPI)—Discriminating thieves broke into a cold storage plant, handcuffed the night watchman to a post and systematically rifled 100 vaults of the choicest furs they could find early today.

Adrien Baillargeon, president of the J. B. Baillargeon Express and Storage Company in east end Montreal, said the thieves spent six hours "picking the best furs they could lay their hands on."

He said it would take until Friday, after hours of inventory checking to determine the exact amount stolen.

SOVIET PROTESTS

Congo Expels Embassy Staff

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Premier Cyrille Adoula tonight ordered the entire staff of the Soviet Embassy to leave The Congo and announced that two Russian diplomats under arrest would be expelled within 48 hours.

Adoula told a news conference that his move did not mean he was breaking relations with the Soviet Union.

He added that his government had seized documents proving the embassy was supporting an anti-government plot designed to overthrow his regime by force.

Adoula said the documents were found on embassy counselor Boris Voronin and press attache Yuri Maikotnykh who were arrested by Congolese gendarmes Tuesday.

The announcement came after state security officers earlier today arrested still a third Russian—Benik Beknazar-Yuzbashev, correspondent for the Soviet Novosti news agency, who arrived only a month ago to open a bureau in Leopoldville.

Earlier in the day, a dispatch from Moscow reported that the Soviet Union sent a formal note to the Congo government protesting the arrest of the two Soviet diplomats and "other outrages" against the Russian embassy.

The official Soviet Tass news agency said the note was handed to The Congo charge d'affaires in Moscow by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

CAMBODIA CONFERENCE PROPOSED

(See also page 3)

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (Reuters)—Head of state Prince Norodom Sihanouk today followed up his cancellation of United States aid by proposing a 14-nation conference to guarantee the Southeast Asian state's neutrality.

The prince said the conference could be held in Rangoon, Burma or Jakarta, Indonesia, and did not have to be in Geneva.

LIBERALS DON'T LIKE IT EITHER

Gordon Tax Change Bill Under Fire by Senators

OTTAWA (CP)—Income Tax Act amendments proposed in Finance Minister Gordon's June 13 budget ran into a wall of Liberal and Conservative opposition in the Senate Wednesday.

Main criticism was aimed at a proposed change in withholding taxes on dividends paid to foreign companies by their Canadian subsidiaries. The tax is to be stiffened for firms that do not have at least 25 per cent Canadian ownership.

Senator Salter Hayden (L.-Ontario), Toronto corporation lawyer, attacked this amendment although he was chosen by government leader W. Ross Macdonald to explain the amending bill to the House.

In his opening remarks, Senator Hayden said he would explain the provisions of the bill and what they are intended to do. He said he would not express any opinion as to whether the provisions will work.

JOIN CRITICISM

Senator Hayden was joined in his criticism of the bill by Senator M. Wallace McCutcheon (PC—Ontario), noted Cana-

Fire Kills Hired Arsonists

CADILLAC, Que. (CP)—Police Chief Roland Raby said Wednesday two men—fatally burned in a gasoline explosion made death-bed statements that they had been hired to burn down a home in this community 50 miles east of Kirkland Lake, Ont.

He said Andre Bureau, 38 and his brother-in-law Fernand Massicotte, 31, made the statements before dying in a Rouyn, Que., hospital Sunday where they had been admitted after flames of a 74-year-old Yves Legendre, a hospital patient.

Chief Raby said he believed the furnace thermostat switched on while the men were saturating the basement with gasoline, causing an explosion.

Chief Raby said a well-known man from Rouyn, Que., was being questioned.

Reports from the area said schools at Blairmore and Bellevue were closed because of the blizzard.

Rail Crash Injuries

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—The Wabash "Cannonball" passenger train smashed together with a freight train in northwest St. Louis today and at least 25 persons were believed injured.

Chased Across Border

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Three Soviet jet fighters shot down an unarmed Iranian plane 18 miles inside Iranian territory after it accidentally strayed into the Soviet Union, official government reports said today.

Two aerial survey officials aboard the plane were killed and the pilot was badly injured.

The plane, on a photographic mission in connection with a land redistribution project in northeast Iran, lost its way Wednesday and flew into Soviet territory, the reports said.

The reports said the Soviet jets ordered the plane to land on a Soviet air strip. The pilot, however, found he was short of fuel and flew back into Iranian territory, the reports added.

The three jets then followed the Iranian plane and fired on it near Dargaz in Iran. The plane was reported to have caught fire and exploded in the air.

CONDUCT SURVEY

The aerial survey officials were identified as employees of the cartographic organization conducting the land reform survey.

The plane was downed while Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev was in Iran on an official visit.

News of the incident spread through the Iranian Parliament today as Breshnev addressed a joint session on improved Iranian-Soviet relations. The president said the Soviet government and people are greatly satisfied with the removal of the "darkness" from their relations with the Soviet government.

The land reform survey is being made in the Khorasan region bordering the Soviet Union and Afghanistan.

The pilot was employed by the Iranian Air Taxi Company. The government had chartered the plane for the survey.

LONDON—Anthony Duckworth added a hyphen and four letters to his name Wednesday—and became richer by $837,000.

A great-aunt, who died three years ago, left her estate to him, providing he attach "Shad" to his name. The great-aunt was the late eccentric, Mrs. Cecil Duckworth. Her maiden name was Chad.

Mrs. Duckworth wore dark glasses and smoked large cigars.

"My great-aunt was a very generous woman," said Anthony. "She was also my God-mother and I was very fond of her."

By becoming Anthony Duckworth-Chad, Anthony inherited the following:

A cash legacy of $79,000 ($237,000).

A 2,000-acre estate valued at $200,000 ($600,000).

On the estate are many houses, including a 40-room Georgian manor house, Pynkney Hall.

LE HAVRE, France—A parish priest was puzzled when he spotted a new box for money offerings on the wall of his church in the nearby village of Duclair. Looking closer, the priest read a scrawled note attached to the box: "Please leave here your offerings for candles." An investigation revealed the box was the personal get-rich-quick gimmick of a 14-year-old girl.

DALLAS—Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, deposed "first lady" of South Viet Nam, still owes a hotel bill here, Anthony R. Wyman, comptroller of the Sheraton-Dallas Hotel, said Wednesday. The bill for Mrs. Nhu's Oct. 23-25 stay was less than $50. Mrs. Nhu is in Rome.

REVERBY, England—Aunt, recognized as one of the oldest dogs in the world, has died here at the age of 27— which at seven human years to one canine year made him 189. He never had been ill since the day his owner, gamekeeper James Hawkes, weaned him and three other Labrador pups when their mother died.

ROCHESTER—"All I want is a little sleep," said Ralph Harris, 40, when he was discovered in a 25-foot-deep manhole.

A city employee was inspecting a water main when he came across Harris. He called the police. Harris climbed out of the manhole and proceeded to fall asleep next to a tree.

Harris told officers he had a fight with his wife and "wanted to get away from her for awhile."

He removed the 70-pound cover to get into the manhole, but it had been put back into place by the time the inspector arrived. The employee said it would have been nearly impossible for Harris to get the top off from below and "it might have been another two years before we checked that manhole again."

Doctors' Group Accused of Fraud

NEW YORK (AP)—The AFL-CIO charged the American Medical Association Wednesday with distributing a phony record misrepresenting a United Steelworkers Union official as a tough-talking labor leader who threatens union members to collect political funds.

AFL-CIO President George Meany announced that the Steelworkers official, Paul Normile of Pittsburgh, has filed a $400,000 damage suit against the AMA in federal court in Washington.

Former Halifax Resident Dies In 103rd Year

Former Halifaxian, Miss Ida Maude Bowden, 649 Falkland Road, died Wednesday in Royal Jubilee Hospital in her 103rd year.

Miss Bowden has been a resident of Victoria for over 25 years.

Funeral service will be conducted Friday at 1:30 p.m. in Hayward's Funeral Chapel by Canon F. Pike. Following cremation, interment will be in St. Luke's cemetery.

The suit sought the damages for alleged violation of privacy and libel.

Normile, at a press conference, said he never made such a speech, nor was any such union meeting held, as represented on the record.

DENIES CHARGE

In a statement issued in Washington Dr. Edward R. Annis, AMA president, said "the reckless charge of fraud leveled at the AMA by George Meany is completely false."

Normile's suit charges that the record has been widely distributed by the AMA and the American Medical Political Action Committee. It says AMPAC was established by the AMA.

The record, played at the Steelworkers' press conference, represents Normile as telling a group of labor leaders that the Steelworkers' District 16 must "kick in" $146,000 to the committee on political education, the AFL-CIO's political arm, to fight for medical-care legislation in the U.S. Congress.

"No if ands, or buts," the voice on the record says. "For those who don't want to give, you shop stewards can always let them know there's still a graveyard shift. They'll kick in."

ROBERT STROUD

Alcatraz Birdman 'Gets Out'

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI)—Convict Robert Stroud, the "Birdman of Alcatraz," died today at the U.S. medical centre for federal prisoners. He was 73.

Hospital Warden J. D. Harris said Stroud, who has been in prison for the past 54 years, died unexpectedly in his sleep early today.

"He died from natural causes and infirmities of age," the warden said in a brief statement. The warden said prison physicians fixed the time of death between 5 a.m. (EST) and 6:45 a.m. (EST) today.

Stroud had been a patient at the medical centre since July 15, 1959.

He was transferred here from the island prison of Alcatraz, where he conducted the study of bird diseases that earned him his nickname. He was a convicted murderer.

Stroud was the subject of a book, the "Birdman of Alcatraz," which later was made into a movie, starring Burt Lancaster.

The "birdman" also wrote a book about the federal penal system, but prison authorities refused to permit its publication. The book was being held by the Federal Bureau of Prisons.

Stroud was admitted to the medical centre in 1959.

SNOWBOUND HUNTERS RESCUED

NATAL, B.C. (CP)—RCMP said today 18 hunters trapped in a valley near here by a blizzard that struck with little warning have been rescued.

All were reported in good condition.

The blizzard struck Monday night, trapping nine vehicles in deep snow. The snow was so deep a man could only walk in it for a short distance.

Employing a crawler tractor, RCMP rescued eight hunters Wednesday morning and brought out the rest in small groups in the afternoon and evening. All but one of the nine vehicles was pulled free.

RCMP said lesser amounts of snow in certain areas of the valley allowed some hunters to drive their vehicles to an area closer to rescue parties.

No names were released, but it was believed all the hunters were from British Columbia.

BRUTALITY CHARGE

Probe of B.C. Prison Urged

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—An official, independent investigation into treatment of prisoners in the B.C. Penitentiary was recommended by a New Westminster Assize Court jury Wednesday.

The jury asked for the investigation after it returned 11 verdicts against Wayne Carlson, Bernard Wood and Gerard Caissey charged in connection with the penitentiary riot here April 19-20.

The jury deliberated 7½ hours after the 13-day trial.

The jurors told Mr. Justice T. W. Brown that their recommendation for an inquiry was based on previous testimony by the prisoners that they had been mistreated.

Ronald Sweeney, a prisoner brought in as a defence witness, said he had been "beaten up" by guards and told to keep his mouth shut.

Mr. Justice Brown told the jury in his address that he felt Sweeney's allegation was a complete fabrication.

Wood and Caissey were found guilty of assaulting guard Patrick Dennis who was held hostage on the night of the riot. Carlson, earlier in the trial, had pleaded guilty to this charge.

All three were found guilty of confining Dennis after he had been assaulted. Caissey was found guilty of forcibly breaking out of a place in prison with intent to escape, but Carlson and Wood were acquitted on this charge.

All three were acquitted of the charge of possessing a gas bomb or Molotov cocktail, dangerous to the public peace.

Caissey previously had been found guilty of attempting to throw a Molotov cocktail at guard Laverne Sherk in the prison yard on the night of April 19.

Mr. Justice T. W. Brown said a date for sentencing the accused would be set later.

The jury also recommended that Caissey should be admitted, within the limits of security, to a recognized cancer clinic in Vancouver for a complete report on the condition from which he claims to suffer. During the trial he said he was dying from the disease.

RECOMMEND TRANSFER

The jury also recommended that the transfer of the three accused from the B.C. Penitentiary should be carried out immediately.

They also asked that findings from the first two recommendations be returned to the court and jury.

The jury, which first retired from the courtroom at 2:45 p.m., returned four times for instructions from Mr. Justice Brown before reaching a verdict.

Labor Patches Up Immigration Row

LONDON (Reuters)—The opposition Labor party Wednesday hammered out a compromise aimed at avoiding an international split over Commonwealth immigration to Britain.

Reliable sources said the compromise called for the party to ask the Conservative government to negotiate immigration quotas with individual Commonwealth countries.

The decision, reported reached by an overwhelming majority at a private meeting of Labor MPs also made clear the party will oppose any renewal of the government's Commonwealth Immigration Act unless its demand for negotiations is conceded, the source said.

Although the Labor party officially opposes the act, which went into effect in July, 1962, some of its members of Parliament represent areas where Commonwealth immigration has intensified already crucial housing and social problems.

Some MPs, under pressure from their own constituents, find themselves in great difficulty over backing the official line.

However, despite its dislike of the Immigration Act and its desire for free movement of Commonwealth immigrants into Britain, the Labor party recognizes that some form of control may be necessary.

But it is firmly opposed to any form of color discrimination.

The Immigration Act, which for the first time controlled the flow of Commonwealth emigrants to Britain, is due to expire at the end of this year unless renewed by Parliament.

REGINA (CP) — Jubilation erupted in this city of 120,000 in the wee, small hours of this morning as television viewers and radio listeners saw and heard their Saskatchewan Roughriders engineer a last-quarter win over B.C. Lions.

More than 8,000 names on telegrams went out to the club from rabid fans before Wednesday night's game and already another 2,000 have gone out for the Saturday game. Twenty thousand more are expected.

The city's newspaper had a headline today in green ink — one of the Roughriders colors — that said, "Lion-Taming Job done by Riders."

U.S. Joins U.K. In Arms Ban For Indonesia

LONDON (CP)—The United States has suspended new deliveries of weapons to Indonesia, British informants reported today.

An assurance to this effect was said to have been conveyed Tuesday night by State Secretary Dean Rusk to British Ambassador Sir David Ormsby-Gore in Washington.

The two governments are still discussing problems relating to the supply of spare parts of military equipment already delivered to Indonesia, informants said.

The U.S. and Britain are becoming increasingly concerned by the avowed policy of President Sukarno's government to break up the new Federation of Malaysia, which the British helped to establish.

In his talk with Ormsby-Gore, Rusk is understood to have explained U.S. policy on the subject of continuing shipment of spare parts for U.S. military equipment already supplied to Indonesia.

The issue came up sharply in recent weeks when U.S. Congress members drew attention to the shipment of American spare parts for 10 American-built Hercules troop transport planes being operated by the Indonesian Air Force.

These planes are reported being used to ferry Indonesian guerrillas into the jungles of North Borneo, where they are fighting British-led troops.

North Borneo is part of the new Malaysian federation. The south part of the island belongs to Indonesia.

Earlier, a foreign office spokesman here said Britain has not issued any export licenses for military equipment to Indonesia since Sept. 18, the day on which the British Embassy in Jakarta was burned down by anti-Malaysia demonstrators.

Canadian Flew Against Castro

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—A former RCAF pilot has disclosed he worked for an anti-Castro group in 1960 and 1961, flying missions in and out of Cuba.

Toronto-born John Glynn, 28, recovering in hospital here from a diabetic attack, said he joined the group in 1959 after answering an advertisement in a Chicago newspaper. A month and a half later he was sent to Miami.

During early 1960, Glynn said in an interview, he made two or three trips a week from Miami into Cuba to pick up passengers. He also flew equipment to the island, but never knew what he was carrying.

"I used a four-passenger float plane for most of my trips, since you could put it down on any of the thousands of bays and lakes in Cuba," he said.

Glynn, who had previously worked as a DEW (Distant Early Warning) line pilot, said that during 1960-61 he was picked up three times by United States immigration authorities and handed a first-class plane ticket to Montreal. Each time he landed in Montreal he simply caught the next plane back to Miami.

Glynn said he left the group shortly before the Common Market tariff on frozen poultry was raised last year to 13.43 cents a pound from 4.6 cents. The Common Market offered in September to cut it 1.3 cents a pound, but the United States rejected the offer.

Highway Bridge To Be Replaced

CAMPBELL RIVER—A rotting bridge over Simms Creek at Willow Point will be replaced as soon as possible.

The bridge will be demolished and a new culvert installed. To facilitate installation of the big culvert, a new channel for the creek will be cut. However, no work on this phase of the project will be started until officials of the fisheries department are satisfied salmon have reached their spawning beds safely.

MLA Dan Campbell said the work would get underway as soon as the fisheries department gives permission.

CAMBODIAN DIPLOMAT

'Let Our Friends Be the Judges'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cambodia has not turned its back on the West in asking for a termination of U.S. military and economic aid, Cambodian Ambassador Mong Kimmy said today.

The veteran diplomat said he has given assurances to the state department that Cambodia's chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, has no intention of rushing into the arms of the Communists.

"All we want is to be left alone," he said in an interview. "Let our friends judge us by the success or failure of our policies."

"They see a war in South Vietnam and they see civil strife in Laos while in Cambodia they see we have peace."

"Leave us alone to work with our people and develop our weak economy. That is all we ask of our neighbors and our friends in the East and West."

PLAYS LEADING ROLES—Kimmy has represented his country here for 11 years and has played leading roles in the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina and the 1961-62 Geneva conference which established the neutrality of Laos. He also has been a familiar figure at the United Nations.

"In our agreement on military aid with the United States there is a provision that Cambodia must not receive aid from any of the socialist countries," the ambassador said. "In point of fact, this meant we were not neutral."

For this reason, he said that Sihanouk has definitely decided he would not ask for U.S. military assistance because such an appeal "means that Cambodia would then become a satellite of the Soviet bloc."

Kimmy repeated accusations that South Viet Nam and Thailand, recipients of massive American military aid, have violated the Cambodian border while his country had only a few trainer planes, stripped of guns, with which to defend itself.

Power Sale Blocked—REGINA (CP)—Mayor Henry Baker cast a tie-breaking vote Tuesday night against a motion at city council calling for sale of the Regina power plant and distribution system on the basis of the last Saskatchewan Power Corporation offer.

Ratepayers approved a plebiscite calling for the sale of the plant to the SPC in the Nov. 6 civic election, but the referendum said nothing about terms of the sale.

$100 FINE 'INADEQUATE'—Ontario Seeks Appeal In Shooting Deaths

KAPUSKASING, Ont. (CP)—Attorney-General Fred Cass is seeking to appeal sentences imposed on three settlers following the shooting deaths of three strikers in a labor dispute here last February, a lawyer said today.

Gerard E. Cloutier, defence counsel for the settlers, said a letter from Mr. Cass' department expressed the opinion the $100 fine handed each settler was inadequate.

Paul Emile Coulombe, 34, and Leonce Tremblay, 30, both of nearby Val Rita where the shooting incident occurred, and Herbert Murray, 26, of nearby Harty, were convicted by an Ontario Supreme Court jury Oct. 7 on a charge of possession of dangerous weapons.

The jury found there was not sufficient evidence to proceed with a charge of non-capital murder against the three and 17 other independent log-cutting settlers.

All 20 had been charged after three strikers were killed Feb. 11 when a small army of Lumber and Sawmill Workers, Union CLC members attacked the settlers' logging camp during a 34-day strike and were repulsed by gunfire.

Mr. Cloutier said the letter, from W. C. Bowman director of public prosecutions, said Mr. Cass will ask the court of appeal for permission to appeal the fines because a 30-day limit for an appeal has expired.

The fines drew bitter criticism from Canadian unions, including the Canadian Labour Congress, and demands for a royal commission investigation into the strike, the shootings and subsequent court proceedings.

The CLC described the fines as "outrageous," emphasizing that 133 strikers had been fined $200 each on charges of unlawful assembly, double the fine against the men who did the shooting.

Pickets were shot at Reesor Siding early this year, and the men responsible were fined $100.

Council had voted at the last meeting to write direct to the Premier.

Labour Council Wants Probe

Victoria Labour Council has written to the Canadian Labour Congress, requesting any action necessary be taken on instituting a Royal Commission into the killing of three strike pickets.

BJØRN STAIB ... 'no picnic'

CANADA TO NORWAY

He'll Go Polar Route—1,500 Miles by Ski

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bjørn Staib, 25, a former Norwegian army ski trooper, plans to cross the Arctic ice cap on skis next February—a journey he says "is not likely to be any picnic."

He is here to discuss his plans with the National Geographic Society, which Staib says is interested in becoming a main sponsor of his 12-man expedition.

"This will be a chance to make the first full crossing of the Arctic Ocean ice in history, as this is the only trans-polar distance not yet fully covered by man," Staib said Wednesday.

Last year Staib and a countryman, photographer Bjørn Reese, crossed northern Greenland on skis, a distance of some 600 miles, in 31 days.

Staib expects the polar trip to cover about 1,200 to 1,500 miles and take more than three months.

The starting point for Staib's expedition will be Ward Hunt Island, a tiny dot in the Arctic Ocean just off northern Canada's Ellesmere Island.

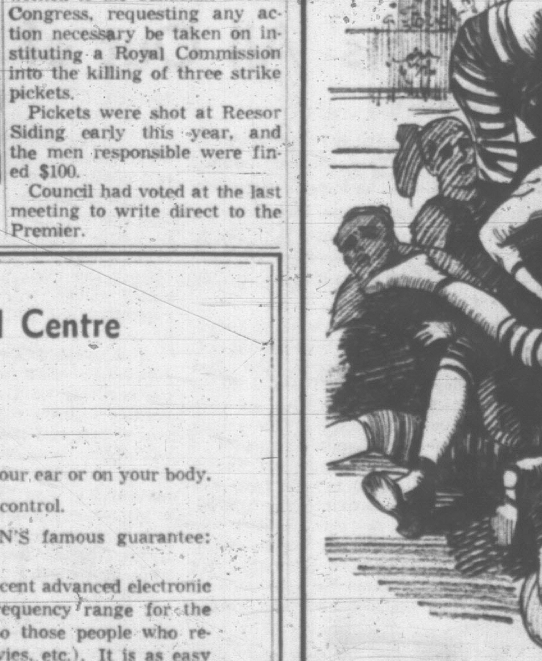

From there Staib will closely parallel the route of Admiral Robert E. Peary's sled trip to the North Pole in 1909.

From the pole the Staib expedition will turn toward the European continent and proceed either to Spitsbergen, in Norwegian territory, or to Soviet territory north of Siberia.

Bulwark Against Delinquency

THIS WEEK GREATER VICTORIA's Community Welfare Council launched another survey of the area's juvenile delinquency situation.

As a start, the council named a study committee under the chairmanship of Mr. D. H. Nelson and called upon that group to inquire into the incidence of misbehavior among young people here, the forms it takes, and any changes apparent in the delinquency trends since two previous studies were made in the last seven years.

This is a valuable exercise which should enjoy widespread support throughout the community, particularly in view of the fact that findings of the study group could lead to recommendations for community action aimed at curbing delinquency.

While nothing can be taken for granted by the study group, it is safe to say at the outset that certain facts will emerge. One of them—as reports in the newspapers disclose—is that anti-social behavior which brings the youngster to police attention, and makes him a juvenile delinquency statistic is fairly general.

A second fact is that efforts made locally to correct delinquency among boys and girls have so far been of limited success.

A third—and the most important in the field of juvenile delinquency, as in other areas—is that prevention is many times as valuable as attempted cures.

In the realm of prevention, no instrument is more effective than a good home. This is a point stressed by Mr. C. W. Gorbey, coordinator of juvenile delinquency prevention services for the provincial government. His conviction on that score has been reinforced by an exhaustive study of the problem in rural areas of British Columbia.

Many agencies, many projects can originate from the community to furnish avenues of rehabilitation for the young delinquent. Professional social welfare workers, Big Brother and Big Sister movements, and a number of other instruments can assist in this work.

However, except in those worthwhile agencies such as the Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, YMCA and certain church and club projects which concentrate on keeping the child healthy in body, mind and spirit, their efforts are usually aimed at repair. Some damage has been done before they are brought into play.

These are points well understood by people interested in and informed on juvenile delinquency. Such individuals know, also, that a relatively small percentage of our boys and girls fall into delinquencies which reach the attention of the police or the courts.

There are, nevertheless, enough individuals in the small percentage to cause community concern. It is the type of concern which makes it advisable for all parents to analyze situations and conditions in their own homes to be sure nothing is being left undone that can be done to help their children avoid falling into delinquency.

It is common belief that broken homes and underprivileged homes provide an invitation to delinquency among the young. However, earlier investigations indicated that these are not the only types of household from which young trouble-makers, or potential trouble-makers, come. They can come also from homes which enjoy high respectability, reasonable and often good incomes and the advantages of comfortable circumstances in general.

But the home which does not give the child a complete sense of affection, fair discipline and some recognition of his right to claim attention as an individual can remain, for the purposes of juvenile delinquency classification, one that is underprivileged.

The community study now about to begin in Greater Victoria can, at best, be only a second line of attack on a serious social problem. The first line of attack starts, or should start, within the individual households, even though nine out of 10 children in Greater Victoria stand little chance of becoming cases in juvenile court.

Biting the Hand

ARGENTINA HAS TAKEN A grave step with its decision to seize all foreign-owned petroleum development and production at a time when the country is in desperate need of foreign investment capital and United States economic aid funds.

There is room for serious doubt that revenues accruing to the state from oil and natural gas production, in view of present world petroleum surpluses, will be enough to compensate for the loss of foreign investor confidence in Argentina.

The desire for economic self-sufficiency, which evidently prompted the move, is understandable enough. But seizure of private property by the state, despite contractual agreements between the state and the oil companies concerned, is not according to accepted standards of international practice.

To make matters worse, the government of President Arturo Illia, who won the recent Argentine election on a program which included annulment of the 1958 contracts signed by former president Arturo Frondizi, is giving every indication that it will offer the oil companies very little compensation for their losses. Indemnities are apparently not to be paid until the companies return subsidies given by the former government, pay taxes from which they were exempted under their contracts, and pay damages for losses of oil through alleged faulty operations.

When it is considered that the oil companies invested an estimated $450 million in the search for oil in Argentina, and that they were invited to the country and offered incentives by the government of the day because Argentina was desperately in need of domestic oil supplies, it is apparent that the Illia government is being less than fair.

As a result of the seizure, American Congressional leaders—both Democratic and Republican—have demanded that all aid to Argentina be halted immediately. President Kennedy is opposed to such a drastic step, hoping that a more equitable settlement can be worked out through diplomatic channels.

No matter what the outcome with respect to American aid, private investment—which President Illia declares is needed and wanted by his government—is not likely to be attracted to a country where succeeding governments nullify contracts negotiated by their legally elected predecessors.

FROM NEW YORK By JOSEPH ALSOP

Sharp Eye on Transplanted Nixon

AFTER the last election, Sen. Barry Goldwater crisply described former Vice-President Richard Nixon as a "worse appeaser than Neville Chamberlain." A day or so later, he was photographed warmly embracing both Nixon and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. But now his amiability is again wearing a bit thin.

In tones of pained disillusionment, speaking like a man who is not angry, only a little sick at heart, Goldwater has said that for a while he really believed Nixon's vociferous disclaimers of further presidential ambitions.

"I have to discount that now," he has added. "It's obvious as the day is long that something is on the move with Mr. Nixon."

The shortest possible investigation here in New York is enough to reveal that the aims of the former vice-president are one subject on which Goldwater and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller are in fervent agreement.

In the Rockefeller camp there is visible distaste for Nixon, whether as an alternative Republican nominee or in any other capacity. The root cause of this distaste, ironically enough, is also the root cause of Sen. Goldwater's low rating of the former vice-president.

In 1960 Goldwater strongly pressed on Nixon his "southern strategy." In 1960, too, in the famous Fifth Avenue compact that both men signed, and in the resulting Republican platform, Rockefeller thought he had induced Nixon to adopt exactly the opposite strategy. In the event, Nixon followed neither strategy and thereby fell between two stools in the opinion of a good many wiseacres.

Rejected Advice

Like Goldwater, Rockefeller remembers that his advice was rejected in 1960, and like Goldwater, he attributes the Kennedy victory to this fact. Like Goldwater, Rockefeller is also far from pleased that Nixon has suddenly, wonderfully, obviously raised a presidential lightning rod, which he all the while explains, with equally wonderful coyness, is not a lightning rod at all, but a furred umbrella or some other small object of domestic utility.

The extra drop of bitterness in the cup of the Rockefellerites is Nixon's presence in New York, in the governor's own back yard. The Rockefeller strategists, along with a good many who are pretty intimate with Nixon in California, are now convinced that presidential ambition was a prime, though temporary, motive for Nixon's California-to-New York migration.

Nixon will of course deny this reading of his purposes. Yet, the facts remain that the move was really essential, if he wished to do what he is now doing.

His heavy defeat for the California governorship by the relatively lack-lustre Pat Brown had left the Republican party in California in the approximate condition of a basket of enraged rattlesnakes. And a great many of the rattlesnakes were asking nothing better than an opportunity to bite Nixon.

A compromise candidate who does not have pretty solid support in his own state is normally hamstringed from the outset. That would be Nixon's situation if he were still a Californian. As an adopted New Yorker, however, his situation is quite different.

No one can be surprised if Nixon lacks active, from-the-word-go support in Nelson Rockefeller's state. Furthermore, Nixon has found supporters of a kind here, even if Gov. Rockefeller is conspicuously absent from their ranks.

What the Republican politicians call the "old New York crowd" will almost certainly stick by Nelson Rockefeller as long as propriety and good manners require them to do so. But it is a very good guess that men like former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, and the financial leaders who work with Dewey, are already thinking hard about where they can go if Rockefeller does not make the grade. And it is an equally good guess that they are thinking about going to Nixon.

Limiting Factors

Rockefeller himself, beyond much doubt, will want to go somewhere else—to Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, most likely. But if the Rockefeller candidacy is already an obvious failure, his powers as governor will have certain limits at the Republican convention.

Rockefeller's powers will certainly extend far enough to throw the New York delegation, with full impact, into the last ditch platform fight against the Goldwater faction that Rockefeller is already planning. The interests of Senator Keating and Javits will require the New Yorkers to take that road.

It is far from certain, however, that Rockefeller's powers will also extend far enough to swing his delegation to the substitute candidate of his choice, particularly if New York's Republican elder statesmen think Nixon has a better chance than the man the governor may prefer. ## As Our Readers See It

Hope for Peace

Those of your readers who are convinced that the only long-term hope for peace and the continued existence of civilization lies in world government, will applaud the following statement made by the Honorable Paul Martin, Minister for External Affairs, at the closing dinner of the four-day McGill Conference on World Affairs, held early this month:

"I believe the trend toward internationalism will continue and eventually will result in a world ruled by international law. If we are going to establish a world organization under the law, national states must fall. There will be a pooling of authority and economics as well."

There is a definite responsibility for knowledgeable citizens, not merely to applaud but also to let those in Ottawa know that they applaud. Letters to Members of Parliament are one practical way in which one can defeat that defeatism so often heard: "What can I do about it?"

Test for the 'Peace-Maker'

By ALEX YOUNG

NEXT week's federal-provincial conference should draw wide attention as a supreme test of the diplomatic skills of Lester B. Pearson.

That it will be such a test is, no doubt, not a novel thought. But it does take on added significance as attitudes harden in the current debate on Canada's confederation crisis.

It is becoming clear that Prime Minister Pearson will be dealing with ten provincial premiers who are shrewd, capable and independent men, probably as distinctive a group of premiers as Canada has ever had.

Shrewd and Peppery

There are Bennett and Manning of B.C. and Alberta, hewing to the status quo in the face of the grievances of French Canada; Smallwood of Newfoundland, who, liberal or not, is prone to yell about having been swindled out of his cash terms of confederation; that other Liberal, peppery and unpredictable Robichaud of New Brunswick; and there's Quebec's Lesage, determined above all to get a new and fairer deal for French Canadians.

Among the moderates, if such a phrase can be applied to anyone in the boiling confederation pot, might be numbered Saskatchewan's Lloyd, Manitoba's Roblin, Nova Scotia's Stanfield and Ontario's Robarts.

One man out of the ten may prove to be the only provincial leader to act as a valuable working ally to Mr. Pearson, even though he happens to be a Conservative.

Conciliator

That man is Prince Edward Island's Shaw, who has a reputation for a kindly, conciliatory approach to almost everything he does. While PEI needs Ottawa hand-outs perhaps more than any other province, that kind of approach still will be sorely needed next week.

Mr. Shaw, like all the others, will state his province's requirements for more financial resources, apart from the larger questions of Quebec's rights in confederation and provincial rights generally.

It is the approach taken, the reason or the lack of it, which will contribute to success or failure, and this gives a unique opportunity to Mr. Shaw—representative of the smallest province but a premier among equals.

Though Mr. Pearson will need all the assistance he can muster in the conference, he already has shown he did not win his award for helping keep international peace for nothing during his United Nations days.

His recent public statements on Canada's chief domestic problem constitutes an all-out campaign for what he calls "the voice of reason, moderation and understanding."

Perhaps with a look towards the B.C. and Alberta premiers, he has defined part of the difficulty with these words:

"We have defeatism against faith in the future of our country. We have prejudice against understanding and we have bigotry against reason as we face these problems of confederation and national destiny."

Possible Courses

As a practicing peacemaker, however, he does not stop after uttering ringing phrases about faith-in-the-future and reason-must-prevail.

He has mapped out possible courses of action required to make peace work—letting the provinces take over more responsibility in existing federal-provincial co-operative fields; more recognition of the fact that Quebec needs Canada revenue, including such once-taboo sources as lotteries; perhaps establishment of a formal, full-time provincial secretariat in Ottawa to keep federal-provincial relations on a more even keel.

Room exists in a list like this, limited as it may be, for a good deal of diplomatic manoeuvring and give-and-take in Mr. Pearson's fight for a "new concept of co-operative federalism."

When the ex-diplomat became a full-time Canadian politician in 1958, many of his opponents argued that while Mr. Pearson was certainly a great man in the international field, his talents just weren't useful in the hard-nosed game of domestic Canadian politics.

So "Amiable Mike" became a pretty good domestic politician; in the process "living down" to some extent his international reputation—and he eventually became prime minister.

It will be an historic irony if that diplomatic talent turns out to be what saved Canadian confederation.

Report on the Two Europes—Traditional 'isms' All Out of Date in New Era

By WALTER LIPPMANN

IN the past few weeks I have had a number of interesting talks with men on both sides of the Iron Curtain. I have been in Rome, Paris and London, in Budapest and Warsaw. I was interested, of course, in East-West relations and primarily in a better understanding of the present phase of the cold war.

Perhaps I should begin by admitting that like almost all travellers abroad I found much to confirm what I had thought before I started. In my case, it was that, while the conflict between East and West will not be settled in our time, there has recently been, nevertheless, a new turn in human affairs which is changing radically the conditions of that conflict.

The turn has been brought about, in the main, by the fact that the advent of the new generation coincides with the general revulsion against thermonuclear war: the turn coincides, also, with a wide recognition that not only for the advanced economies, but for the underdeveloped ones as well, traditional Marxist, traditional conservatism and traditional progressivism are all out-of-date. They are no longer adequate to point the way or sufficiently relevant to explain what is happening.

As a result, I may say in passing, much American political talk seems curiously bypassed, indeed provincial, when it is read in Europe today. And therefore, while Europeans still pay close attention to what the United States government does with its enormous power, they are no longer closely interested in American advice and "leadership."

Early in my trip I asked a leading Catholic thinker, who is in Rome for the Vatican Council, why the Church with its irreconcilable opposition to communism was nevertheless promoting arrangements and accommodations with the Communist governments of Eastern Europe.

His first answer was that in its pastoral function the Church could not cut itself off from the faithful no matter where they lived. Then he went on to say that the closer the human intercourse with the Western world, the better for the people in the Communist states. The West, he said, has every interest in opening up trade, cultural exchanges and travel. "They let light and air into the closed societies."

I then asked, but are you not concerned that, vice versa, as Western influence increases with contact so will the influence of communism increase in contact with the masses of the people in the West?

"That is a risk," he said. "The answer to it is that the West will become less vulnerable insofar as it learns to strengthen its own beliefs by renewal, reform and modernization. There is," he said, "no alternative to this. If the West does not make the effort, its order will break down regardless of Communist influence."

Here he was speaking, I think, the sovereign truth which is at the heart of things. Later, after I had been to Budapest, where I saw Kadar and others, and to Warsaw, where I saw Gomulka and others, I went on to Paris. There I talked over what I had seen with some of the wise men.

A French friend, whom I have known many years, was interested, but not surprised, when I told him that in Poland the official attitude, though formally pro-Soviet, was very tender about China. According to Mr. Gomulka, the Soviet difficulties with China are due entirely to the United States, which, by isolating and boycotting China, has driven the Chinese to nuclear weapons.

When my wife asked why the Soviet Union didn't supply the weapons to China, Mr. Gomulka replied that the Soviet Union was too much attached to peace to disseminate nuclear bombs! The United States, he insisted dogmatically, had produced the rift between Peking and Moscow which did nobody any good except the enemies of communism, and particularly the United States.

What I made out of this weird hodge-podge was that Poland was attempting to mediate in the quarrel, and that among other things the Poles want to preserve the influence of China; not only for Communist reasons, but for Polish reasons. For Mr. Gomulka himself is both a hard-shelled Communist and a passionate Pole; as such, he is forced to rely on Russia against Germany. Indeed, he professes to be certain that the United States has already begun giving nuclear weapons to West Germany. He is forced at the same time to rely on China against the overwhelming weight of Russia.

The Frenchman agreed and then went on to say that the current Marxist leaders are confused in their thinking and have indeed lost their way. They revert easily to the older patterns of European power politics. The reason they have lost their way is that the Marxist ideology is glaringly unsuited to the nuclear age.

Until the Russians had really learned about nuclear weapons by making them and testing them, they had continued to believe, as Stalin believed, in the orthodox Marxist view of war: there can be no war between Communist states; wars always begin in the rivalry of capitalist states; the class struggle in capitalist states causes war which will destroy capitalism and will usher in the triumph of communism.

But in the 1950s Khrushchev and his colleagues came to realize that in a nuclear war both sides would be irreparably injured, that there would be no real victors and that therefore in a third world war there would be no Stalin to occupy the ruins of a Hitler empire. So, nuclear war had to be avoided. Peace, or at least non-war, had become necessary, and unavoidable, and in this realization the old foundations of Marxism were destroyed.

The effect of the nuclear situation has been to begin dissolving the cement which holds together the Communist bloc. This does not mean that Poland, Hungary and the others are about to jump the fence. There are no signs of that. But it does mean that the power of Moscow over the satellites is declining, because the discipline of war—hot or cold—is wearing off.

Because almost everyone thinks that we are no longer on the brink of nuclear war, the authority of the big nuclear powers to coerce their allies has greatly diminished. Eastern Europe no longer feels entirely dependent on Moscow, as Western Europe no longer feels entirely dependent on Washington.

For this reason, the governments of Poland and Hungary, and I should think of the other eastern states as well, feel less constrained to take orders from the imperial centre in Moscow. But at the same time, because they are less dependent on Moscow, they cannot use Moscow as an alibi for their own failures. They must pay for their own mistakes.

They have, therefore, to win the support of their own people. That they are trying to do this is evident in their economic policy, where capital investment no longer has that ruthless priority over private consumption which it had in Stalin's day. It appears also in the relations of eastern Communist governments with the Church. For they dare not offend too much the mass of the people.

Thus the discipline of the cold war, the tension caused by the fear of war, is relaxed in every village, and the Communist governments are aware of it.

...REPORTING

OTTAWA — The pressure that Quebec Liberal MPs are putting on the government to foist an unwanted airplane on Trans-Canada Air Lines shows the essential incompatibility of politics and business.

TCA selected the Douglas DC9 as the airplane best suited for its needs. Douglas Aircraft, a U.S. firm, agreed to subcontract part of the manufacture to the DeHavilland company in Toronto, thus providing jobs for Canadians. The French manufacturers of the rival Caravelle airplane countered with an offer to make substantially more of their airplane in Montreal, thus providing jobs for Quebecers—and the Quebec lobby swung into action.

Now the government must either disavow Quebec or offend Ontario. Similarly with Manitoba's lobby against TCA's economy move to transfer its aircraft-maintenance operation from Winnipeg to Montreal. The best answer in both cases would be for the government not to be in the airline business—or at least to leave operational decisions to TCA.

The government faces a comparable problem over the award of a contract for the production of heavy water. A government company, Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., received proposals May 31 for construction of a heavy water plant, and the most economical proposition was to use low-cost Alberta gas as fuel. While a contract for sales to AEC would underwrite the operation, it is also hoped to establish an export market—but the latter depends on keeping production costs below those at the Savannah, Ga., plant of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

Nova Scotia Liberals, including Labor Minister MacEachen, advocate putting the plant in Nova Scotia to provide a market for coal and jobs for displaced miners. It is estimated that the plant's fuel costs, using N.S. coal, would be more than twice as great as by using Alberta gas.

Liberals and Conservatives profess not to "believe in" state-owned means of production—but for unbelievers they have been pretty devout—the federal government operates, produces or trades in railroads, airlines, river and coastal shipping, wharves and elevators, pipelines, radio and television, films, printing and publishing, banking, insurance, annuities, wheat, butter, rubber, housing, armaments, electric and atomic power, fissile products and equipment, mining and milling, tourism and inventions.

On the ideological plane the politicians pose as defenders of private enterprise—and practise socialism.

On the operational plane they preach the principle of noninterference with the executive and administrative autonomy of Crown corporations, but the CBC, the CNR, TCA and the Wheat Board are continually buffeted by political pressures.

This is not strange. The objective of the business administrators who run the companies is to provide the best service or product possible without operating at a loss, unless government policy dictates a loss in the interests of serving the public, as in the case of the CNR. The objective of the politicians is to win elections, and often votes can be gained by influencing Crown companies to act contrary to the ways indicated by business considerations.

People talk about Big Government, but largely it is government in business that makes government big. And as long as politicians find that fingers in business makes good politics, it will stay that way.

THINKING OF QUITTING

India Problems Pile Up On Aging, Ailing Nehru

NEW DELHI (AP) — As he marked his 74th birthday last week in waning health, Jawaharlal Nehru showed signs of increasing frustration with India's difficulties.

He has been thinking out loud of resigning the prime minister's job and trying to influence India indirectly the way Mohandas K. Gandhi tried to do—and failed.

Some believe Nehru's remarks are intended primarily to shock his lagging followers into reform. But the possibility remains that he might quit.

Several of Nehru's recent comments have indicated frustration over factionalism and corruption in his Congress party, over the disappointing pace of economic development and over the hostile deadlocks with neighboring China and Pakistan.

These problems are causing some Indians to say he is sinking into failure despite all he has done as a leader of India's independence struggle and as its only prime minister in 16 years of independence.

RULE THROUGH CHILD?

Nehru's poor health and his talk of leaving the government have encouraged rumors that he is seeking to make his only child, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, the prime minister and to direct the government through her.

The possibility also grows of a shadow government rather than clear-cut removal of Nehru and succession through normal party machinations.

Nehru looks to be in failing health despite official assertions to the contrary.

But Nehru recently said he needs to nap more now, wants to stay in bed longer in the morning and must be careful about his eating schedule.

His appearance suggests to some medical observers that he may be suffering from progressive hardening of the arteries.

DOZES AT MEETINGS

He often dozes off at public meetings. He is reported to forget little personal things and his speeches are even more rambling than before. He gets out of a car with difficulty. He presses his hand down on his knee when he climbs steps.

Nehru is generally given credit here for building a free united India out of an area that has 14 major languages and now is inhabited by 462,000,000 persons.

He has established the parliamentary system and free elections and has dedicated government to improving the lot of the average Indian who lives on $70 a year.

But newspapers and conversations in India today concentrate on the things that have eluded Nehru: Peace with India's neighbors; a check on population increase, and a sound system of political choices instead of a massive Congress party torn by in-fighting while other parties stand ineffectively aside.

Nehru's recent statements indicate these problems are preying on him, too.

Virus Tennis

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In case you hadn't noticed, the season of winter sports is almost upon us once again. Soon, with a gay halloo, a large segment of the population will be participating in skiing, bobsledding, ice skating, curling, afternoon naps and that most popular of all winter games, virus tennis.

Evidence extracted from hieroglyphics and from fossils of the Pliocene period indicates that man has been playing some form of virus tennis since before the dawn of history.

And believe me it requires real dedication to begin playing before dawn.

In view of these findings, I cannot properly claim to have invented virus tennis. I believe the record will show, however, that I was the first to formulate written rules of procedure, tactics and ethics.

It might fairly be said that I am to virus tennis what Abner Doubleday was to baseball. But I doubt anyone will say it.

In my household, we do not ordinarily hold our first virus tennis tournament until after Thanksgiving. This year, however, we opened the season early to accommodate my father, who recently came to visit us.

My father lives in a climate that is still rather balmy at this time of year. He mistook the brisk autumn weather here as a sign of winter and began clamoring for a game.

He being senior among us and a guest at that, it seemed only right that we permit him to throw out the first virus.

Pairings for the first round pitted my father against my 13-year-old daughter, who is the top-seeded player in my family. It was an interesting match.

Being an old-timer, my father does not play the so-called "big game" favored by the younger set. That is, he does not try to blow his opponent off the court.

He is, however, a dogged retriever and can come up with viruses that would pass right by the average player.

Once my daughter adjusted to his style of play she was able to match him shot for shot, which included one penicillin and two streptomycin.

My daughter then served to my wife, who lobbed a virus in my direction even though I had not planned to enter the tournament.

Sportsman to the end, I came out of retirement and engaged in a spirited match with my younger daughter, who is just learning the game but who has picked up a lot of pointers at school.

Before you could say "pneumonia," we were all in mid-season form. All except my two-year-old son.

He is too young to play, so he acts as "virus boy." He chases all of the viruses that the other players miss.

SYNOPSIS—Cold Arctic air which this morning gave Prince Rupert a temperature of 2 above, breaking its previous all-time record low of 10 above for November, is still firmly entrenched in the interior of B.C. A weak disturbance moving rapidly southeast toward the southern part of the province will cause snow flurries in that area. A major storm developing about 500 miles west of Vancouver Island is moving eastward and will cause a moderating trend in temperatures in coastal areas on Friday. Snow changing to rain together with strong winds will mark the change to milder weather along the coast.

THREE-PHASE CYCLE for traffic lights operated electronically to speed vehicular flow through the revamped Roundabout intersection will produce the patterns shown above. Diagrams from left to right indicate which directions moving traffic will go in each of the three phases. Arrows show which cars will move while all others are stopped by red lights. Several weeks of observation and on-the-spot adjustment will be needed to put the complicated equipment into perfect operation. With 36 different settings to be made within the equipment, the permutations of possible green and red light sequences is very high but traffic officials feel that during off-peak hours the lights will go through the three phases once every 70 seconds or so. This should mean that in average conditions no car will have to wait longer than about 60 seconds to get a green light. During traffic rushes, the controller will automatically weight the "green" periods to clear the heaviest traffic lanes while still giving cross-traffic periodic chances to move through the intersection.

WAITING TRAFFIC SURVEY

Gorge Bridge Delay Asked by Esquimalt

Esquimalt council is asking the provincial government to delay construction of a proposed $146,000 new Gorge Bridge on Tillicum Road.

Esquimalt share of the cost is $36,500 or 25 per cent. Provincial government offered to pay 50 per cent, Saanich the other 25 per cent.

Municipal engineer John Graeme pointed out it would be advisable to wait until a Greater Victoria traffic study is completed next July.

He said the survey might reveal the need for a bridge at Harriet Road or enlarging Craighflower Bridge.

Mr. Graeme indicated the new bridge may call for a 50 m.p.h. speed limit instead of the present 30 m.p.h.

He said Saanich is willing to go ahead on the Gorge bridge but added that it is a smaller project for Saanich. "Saanich has many east-west roads but it is more important to us financially and traffic-wise."

Mr. Graeme pointed out some businesses in the area would suffer due to road closures during the six-month construction period.

Council also:

Approved a suggestion by Chief James Smart to erect a traffic island and filter lanes at the five-point intersection of Old Esquimalt Road, Lampson and Head Streets;

Agreed to provide a bus service to the Municipal Hall polling station for voters in the northern section of the municipality at a cost of $100; Endorsed a resolution by city council asking the federal government to reconsider its purchase of three submarines from Britain due to the effect on the economy of the area.

Belam, who arrived in Vancouver Tuesday with his wife and two children to take over the post of the senior British trade commissioner whose tour of duty ended last month, said he intends to take up the matter scotch with Premier Bennett.

City Supported In Stand on Subs

Victoria Labour Council secretary and city alderman Alf. Toone told council delegates Wednesday night that the purchase of submarines from Britain shouldn't be connected with the establishment of a merchant marine.

Defending a council recommendation to endorse a city council motion seeking construction of the submarines in Canada, Mr. Toone said the idea of a merchant marine or something similar was excellent.

"But in this one instance," he said, "if this action (of building subs) is going to be taken, we'll have the money spent in Canada—products made in Canada will be used."

CONTRIBUTION

"We can expect quite a considerable contribution to the economy."

E. T. Staley said that if such an amount of money ($33 million) is available, "there are other ways we could spend it to give us more in future in the way of work for our people."

Delegate Fred Bevis suggested the British purchase of the three submarines was a way of wiping out an international trade debt. "I don't think the government is going to rush out and buy submarines for nothing."

Council voted approval of the city's motion.

Top BOAC Officials Quit Posts

LONDON (CP)—Sir Matthew Slattery, 61, who has described British Overseas Airways Corporation's financial set-up as "bloody crazy," has resigned as BOAC chairman, it was learned authoritatively Wednesday.

Slattery's resignation was coupled with that of Sir Basil Smallpiece, 57, BOAC chief executive.

It is understood they failed to agree with proposals for the future of BOAC which are likely to be announced by Minister of Aviation Julian Amery in Parliament today.

Sir Giles Guthrie, 47, a banker and former pilot is to replace both Slattery and Smallpiece as the government-owned airline's chairman and chief executive.

BOAC has an accumulated deficit of more than £77,000,000 ($231,000,000) and pays interest to the government on loans taken out to cover the loss. In Slattery's view, this was putting the airline farther in the red.

'LYING AND CONNIVING'

Trade Union Men Consider Asking Probe Into UIC

A royal commission into Unemployment Insurance benefits procedure may be called for by Victoria Labour Council following union complaints.

Council voted Wednesday night to investigate claims by Riggers' Union delegate Robert Brodie and to take them up if necessary.

Mr. Brodie originally called for a royal commission into UIC operation, charging it is "not above lying and conniving to defeat the worker."

As an example, he told council a retired shipyard worker is being "constantly harassed and called back to the office to answer and re-answer questions."

Mr. Brodie said the man is on the verge of a nervous breakdown.

The last phone call, he said, came at 8:45 p.m. on Remembrance Day. A woman asked where he had been during the day.

"She said the questions of availability was important. If he was not near the phone, he wasn't available."

Mr. Brodie said the man in poor health for his Dockyard job had resigned and asked for work as a watchman or night clerk.

"He was told he could not dictate what job he wanted," Mr. Brodie said.

CAN SHOW PROOF

The Riggers' Union can produce proof of several similar cases, he said.

Delegate Percy Rayment asked that material be provided the VLC, which approved the move.

"Council was told a questionnaire causing trouble for unemployment insurance applicants because of 'trick' questions has become obsolete."

A delegate said labor men at a recent seminar of UIC procedures had experienced difficulty in understanding the questionnaire.

He said word was received from Ottawa Wednesday that the questionnaire now is obsolete.

Council will forward $5 to the Columbia River for Canada Committee to "emphasize the importance to us" of the question.

Delegate Percy Rayment moved the resolution after council heard a plea from the committee for financial support.

Council will also recommend that all unions give support. The committee hopes to send a representative to Ottawa when hearings on the Columbia River treaty begin in the Commons.

The legislative committee will investigate the position of a defeated member of the Cabinet (Eddie Westwood) continuing to hold office.

WATER EVERYWHERE

Canada possesses in her interior more than half of all the fresh water on earth.

STRIKERS' WAY PAID TO LABOR WINGDING

Alberta Meat Market strikers will attend the Victoria Labour Council banquet Friday night.

Their way has been paid by the Meatcutters' Union.

VLC president Robert Barrie said at the council meeting Wednesday: "They'll be dancing instead of walking up and down."

Tourist Boss Set to Stay In Victoria

Victoria Visitors' Bureau commissioner William Hawkins will stay in Victoria after his resignation becomes effective Nov. 30.

"There's no doubt about it," he said today. "I like it here."

Laughing at reports he was considering six job offers, he said:

"There are always American newspapers and magazines which want representatives, but I'm just going to take things easy."

"I'm going to spend about three days in Mazatlan, on the Baja California peninsula, but I won't be leaving for a couple of weeks after Nov. 30."

He said he wants to keep busy when he returns, "but not as busy as I have been."

HOW ABOUT TEACUP MOTIF FOR FLAG?

When a Victoria Labour Council delegate asked Wednesday night if the question of union support for a special Canadian flag has been disclosed, two novel ideas were produced.

E. T. Staley, saying there were too many groups of people in Canada for agreement, suggested a special Victoria flag "with a teacup on it."

Percy Rayment said "Joseph's coat of many colors" may be a good try.

WHEAT BOARD REMEMBERS 'REGULARS'

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian Wheat Board has made wheat available to nine countries at a fixed price for the remainder of the crop year.

The wheat board, Crown agency for the marketing of Canada wheat, halted all private export sales last fall because of the big international demand.

The board said it wanted to assure these regular customers for Canadian wheat of their normal requirements on the basis of the requests received.

Sharp Setback Hits Prices on Wall St.

American Telephone's stock split and boosted dividends lost its impetus today and Wall Street suffered a sharp setback in heavy trading.

The ticker tape ran late. Key stocks fell from fractions to a point or more. AT and T after an initial rise fell off.

Profit taking cut down to size many of the leading gainers of 1963. Chrysler fell more than 2, Pan American World Airlines and Radio Corp. more than a point each.

Gains of about 2 points each were posted by Royal Dutch and Shell Transport and trading followed news of their proposed 20 per cent stock dividends.

Prices remained on the downside in extremely light trading at Toronto.

AT TORONTO—Hudson Bay Mining and Noranda both declined 1/4 and Geo. Mines advanced 1/4 to 3 1/4 on a 4,558 share transaction, including a special size transaction of 4,000 shares at $31 a share among senior base metals. Brunswick gained 20 cents to $5.80 in juniors. Dome rose 1/4 in Senior golds.

AT NEW YORK—Among Canadian issues traded Canadian Pacific and International Nickel dropped 1/4. McIntyre Porcupine 1/4, Dome Mines and Hudson Bay Mining each 1/4.

Prices on the American exchange declined in slow trading. Canadian Javelin eased 1/4. Preston and Scurry Rainbow Oil each 1/4, Jupiter Corp. 1/4 and Molybdenite 1/16.

AT MONTREAL prices were widely mixed today. Trading was normal in industrials at $3.100 shares, but slow in mines and oils at $23.400 shares.

AT LONDON there was another session of quiet trading and mixed results.

Industrial issues attracted little attention and most price changes were minor. There was a flurry in oils near the finish when news of a share split by Shell Transport and Royal Dutch came out. Shares of both rose sharply.

British government bonds lost up to a quarter of a point.

Gold mining stocks in general eased. Selected coppers were in good demand.

AT VANCOUVER trading was moderate. Granduc was down at $4.05 and Western Mines at $3.75. Peso climbed to .95 and Can. Collieries to $9. Growers A. dropped to $5% and Dolly Varden to $5.

Mr. Nielson told the Toronto Society of Financial Analysts that Canadians should not be censured for failing to invest more in Canadian industry.

Mr. Nielson, born in Alberta, is a naturalized U.S. citizen. He said foreign ownership of 70 per cent of the Canadian oil industry was not motivated by profit-hungry U.S. oil companies.

Reservoirs of Canadian risk capital have been discouraged by tax regulations from investing in development of Canadian natural resources.

He said that take-overs within the industry actually were "more a matter of sell-outs born of frustration over futile attempts to grow into larger, more economic units by combining with other small companies."

"If there is any single axiom governing development of an oil company," he said, "it is that you cannot stand still."

WINNIPEG (CP)—Declines in Chicago grain markets contributed to weakness and irregularity today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Oats and barley uncovered some domestic demand in connection with cold prairie weather which has expanded feed demands.

Winnipeg flax was irregular and turned easier following weakness in Chicago soybean.

Lakehead prices for Class Two, IWA and domestic wheat were unchanged.

Through this old English Pot Still door pass the secret makings of a great Canadian gin

Our ingredients come from all over the world. Blended in secret proportions, they help to give Sterling Gin its unusual character and dryness.

Into our stills go plump juniper berries from Italy; angelica from Germany; coriander seed from Yugoslavia and caraway from Holland. Other choice aromatics come to us from as far away as Indochina.

But another of our imports plays an even bigger part. To make Burnett's Gin in Canada, we imported the entire Burnett's distillery from England.

Glance again at the door in the picture. It's part of one of the old Pot Stills in which Sterling Gin is made—in small, unhurried batches.

Our methods are rather like home cooking. We know our little, old-world stills as a good cook knows her seasoned pots and pans. If we switched to mass-producing monsters—with 5 to 10 times the capacity—we'd be sure to save time and money.

But our gin wouldn't taste the same.

Crush in New Expansion

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Fast-growing Crush International Ltd., Toronto-based Canadian-controlled soft drink company has added Pure Springs (Canada) Ltd. of Ottawa to its assets and is now the only national Canadian company in the field.

Pure Springs Gordon Bell was purchased from the Mirsky family for an undisclosed price. The company sells more than 150 million bottles a year in Ottawa and other parts of Canada as well as in the U.S. and Europe.

Crush International, which last year bought out the Hires Root Beer organization in Canada and the U.S., now has about 880 bottlers in Canada, the U.S., South America, Europe and the Middle East.

Crush was acquired by J. William Horsey of Salada-Shrift Horsey and Dominion Stores from Argus Corp. in 1947. The company has pursued a vigorous expansion policy, mainly through acquisitions, and is now one of the biggest carbonated drink bottlers in the world.

The bulk of Crush's sales are in the foreign markets but it estimates it has about 13 per cent of the domestic market.

Maple Leaf Mills Ltd. president C. E. Soward states that Canadian flour sales to Russia, Europe and China will boost the operations of the milling industry from the 70 per cent to the 100 per cent mark.

Although it is generally assumed, Mr. Soward's report says, that the grain deficit in Russia and China is temporary, there is "some ground for the belief that the growing populations of these countries may require the importation of bread grains in succeeding years or until reserves have been built up."

***
The impact of Russian purchases in Canada, Australia and West Germany should eliminate subsidized European competition on flour which has made serious inroads on Canadian flour imports in recent years. It should also enable the U.S. to reduce sharply the subsidy on its flour exports and make Canadian flour more competitive in traditional export markets.

Maple Leaf had consolidated net earnings of $1,833,442 on $1.12 a common share in the year ended July 31. This was eight per cent above the previous year.

Army Dominates New Iraq Gov't

By ALEX EFTY
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Iraqi President Abdel Salam Aref named a moderate cabinet Wednesday night dominated by his military associates and including leading Ba'athists from the government he ousted as well as pro-Nasser elements.

Isolated shooting continued in Baghdad against remnants of the Ba'athist national guard. But the new revolutionary government was reported firmly in control of the Iraqi capital.

"Some stubborn teen-agers are hanging on," a government spokesman said. "Their ammunition will soon run out."

Aref, regarded as a figurehead president under the Ba'athist regime he ousted Monday, named himself president of the new government and picked the former Ba'athist premier, Brig. Ahmed Hassan El Bakr, as vice-president.

A 21-man cabinet includes seven holdover members representing the moderate wing of the Ba'ath party and three Ba'ath military leaders who helped Aref crush national guard resistance.

NAMES MILITARY LEADERS

The three military leaders are army chief of staff, Gen. Taher Yahaya, the new premier; the air force commander, Brig. Hardan Abdul Ghaffar Takriti, the new defence minister, and the military governor - general under the Ba'ath regime, Rashid Musleh, the new interior minister.

They and the commanders of the Iraqi army's five divisions make up the new national revolutionary council Aref set up as the highest authority in the country. This council of military men is expected to make the main policy decisions.

The other 11 cabinet posts went to independent Arab nationalists. Four are believed to be pro-Ba'ath and four pro-Nasser.

Maj. Subhi Abdul Hamid, an unknown, was named foreign minister.

The only Kurd in the cabinet is Musleh Naksbandi, named minister of state. Previous Iraqi governments have been at war with the Kurds, who are seeking autonomy.

Excluded was the extreme wing of the Ba'athist Socialist party, headed by former deputy premier Ali Saleh El Saadi.

Saadi was exiled to Spain last week and now is in Athens, Greece.

Also dropped were Saadi's rivals in last week's power struggle, Foreign Minister Taleb Shebib and Deputy Interior Minister Hazen Jawad. They had been exiled to Beirut.

The government spokesman warned against trying to pin any label on the new regime.

Asked about its attitude toward President Nasser of the United Arab Republic, he said: "We feel that every Arab is our brother. Every country that respects us—Arab or foreign—has our respect."

It is generally believed that Aref will strive for closer ties with Nasser, whom he admires. The Ba'athists of Iraq and those of Syria had worked for closer co-operation between themselves after rejecting federation with Egypt because they feared Nasser's domination.

SPURNED by Britain was the intended visit by exiled Portuguese opposition leader, Gen. Humberto Delgado. His request for a visa was refused, the home office reported.

$126,821 Tax Dodge Admitted

VANCOUVER (CP)—A city hotel today admitted evading income tax totalling $126,821.97.

The Regent Hotel Limited pleaded guilty in magistrate's court to nine charges of filing false income tax returns in the years 1944-48 inclusive, the 1951-52 period, and in 1954 and 1957.

Former director Roman Ewanchuk pleaded guilty to parallel counts of participating in the commission of the company's offences, and another former director, Paul Chumil of Nanaimo, pleaded guilty to acquiescing in the offences in the 1951-52 period, and in 1954 and 1957.

In addition, the hotel pleaded guilty to five counts of violating the Excess Profits Tax Act between 1944 and 1948.

The hotel and both former directors are liable to fines of $25 to $10,000 plus the amount evaded on each of the charges which occurred in the 1950s.

A decision in the case will be announced at a later date.

DRAMATIC ADVANCE CLAIMED

Oxygen Aids Cancer Treatment

CHICAGO (AP)—A doctor reported highly encouraging results Wednesday in treating cancer patients by radiation administered under high-pressure oxygen in a simple portable plastic cylinder resembling an iron lung.

Dr. Oriss Wildermuth of the Tumor Institute of the Swedish Hospital in Seattle, Wash., described his results with 100 patients at a therapy session of the Radiological Society of North America convention.

The patients, who had various types of cancers, were placed inside the cylinder and oxygen was forced in until three times normal atmospheric pressure was attained.

The effect of breathing oxygen under pressure is to force oxygen into cancer cells which lack a normal supply and thus are relatively resistant to radiation. Wildermuth said that with complete oxygen saturation, half the normally-required radiation dose.

"Because the bulk of the patients had what were considered incurable cancer, there were few cures, he said. He added, however, that reduction of pain, the shrinking of resistant tumors and the general sparing of patients was dramatic.

Lawyer Offered Bribe To Hoffa Trial Juror

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Two federal judges charged Wednesday night that an attempt had been made to influence a prospective juror in Teamsters President James R. Hoffa's Jan. 6 trial on jury-tampering charges.

District Judge William E. Miller and Frank Gray Jr. ordered a lawyer, Z. T. Osborn Jr. of Nashville, barred from practicing in federal court, for his alleged participation in the attempt.

Osborn, one of the lawyers in Hoffa's federal court trial here last year from which the original jury-tampering charges arose could not be reached for comment.

In a memorandum, the judges said Osborn approached Nashville metropolitan policeman Robert D. Vick Nov. 11 and requested the officer to contact Ralph A. Elliott, a prospective juror, about the pending Hoffa trial.

Osborn proposed to pay the prospective juror $5,000 if and when he was selected on the trial jury and an additional $5,000 at the end of the trial, if the Teamster president was not convicted, the judges said.

'GAVE FALSE ANSWERS'
The memorandum also accused Osborn of giving false answers to the court in a private hearing.

Court attaches said the dis-

... $10,000 bait

barment in this district court would prevent Osborn from practicing in any other federal court.

Osborn, a leading Nashville lawyer, was one of several who represented Hoffa in a nine-week federal court trial here last year on charges of conspiring to violate federal labor legislation.

The jury was unable to reach a verdict and Judge Miller declared a mistrial. He also ordered an investigation of reports he said he heard about efforts to tamper with that jury.

Hoffa and six other men were indicted several months ago on jury tampering charges.

CRIMINAL VIOLATION

The disbarment order a judicial proceeding, carries no further penalty. Lawyers said jury-tampering is a criminal violation which carries a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine upon conviction.

Hoffa has spent a good part of his six years as international president of the Teamsters Union defending himself in court. He has been indicted six times.

Pending against Hoffa, once his Nashville trial is ended, is one in Chicago. A federal grand jury there has accused him and seven business associates of tapping a rich union pension fund for $200,000,000 in loans fraudulently obtained.

Hoffa came out on top in two federal cases which have gone to trial. A New York jury freed him in 1957 on a charge of conspiring to wiretap a telephone line. That same year he was acquitted in Washington on charges of conspiring to bribe a Senate investigator.

The union president's Nashville trial was on charges that he conspired to violate the Taft-Hartley Act's ban against payoffs to union officials by employers. He was accused of taking the payoffs from a Michigan car-hauling firm.

CONGO POSTING for Brig. Jacques A. Dextraze of Montreal was announced at Ottawa recently. He leaves in the first week of December to assume chief of staff duties at United Nations' headquarters there.

U.S. LABOR CONVENTION DUCKS CANADA DISPUTE

NEW YORK (CP)—The AFL-CIO has left to private discussion the smoothing of relations disrupted by the Great Lakes labor dispute in Canada.

The giant U.S. labor organization's national biennial convention ended here Wednesday without debating the issues swirling around the Seafarers' International Union and the Canadian government trusteeship over the SIU and four other maritime unions.

REFLECTION ON MIRROR

Labor Wants Mergers Probed

NEW YORK (AP)—The AFL-CIO called Wednesday for a U.S. justice department investigation of all newspaper mergers or suspensions.

It adopted a resolution asking Congress for a law requiring newspaper publishers to give the justice department 90 days notice of any contemplated merger, consolidation or acquisition.

The resolution asked that the justice department prosecute any case in which it finds the merger or suspension of newspapers violates anti-monopoly laws.

Arthur Rosenstock, president of the American Newspaper Guild, said that three newspaper groups dominate more than 50 per cent of U.S. newspaper circulation. He said the groups are Hearst, Scripps-Howard and Newhouse.

The resolution would require publishers to give advance notice to all labor organizations involved in a proposed merger, suspension or sale of a newspaper.

The resolution said that when open for bids from prospective purchasers willing to pledge continued publication. The publisher would be required to accept a bid equal to the value set by the court-appointed appraiser to determine its fair market value.

Then, under the resolution, the newspaper would be thrown

The resolution mentioned as an example "the sudden closing of the New York Mirror, with the second largest daily circulation in the United States, and its sale to its competitor, The Daily News."

Hal Malone LOOKS AT SPORTS

When you think of Sen. Barry Moneywater, Gov. Nelson Stoneyfeller and the vast Kennedy complex, Canadian politics are pretty meek stuff. But down in Ottawa, by golly, we have a gal (sort of) who leads with her head as well as anybody. Some day she may use it but don't hold your breath.

You read what Mayor Charlotte Whitton said the other day. For Ottawa's Grey Cup float, why not a new design? Say a large goose egg with the city crest inscribed.

It seems the mayor was among the 20,086 customers who watched as Hamilton Tiger-Cats slew Ottawa Rough Riders 45-0.

Miss Whitton, who has tackled many problems, but not Angelo Mossa, Hamilton's petite 245-lb. lineman, left the stadium holding her nose. Rough Riders spies interpreted this manoeuvre to indicate some displeasure with their team.

The mayor more or less corroborated their suspicions. She was tempted, she said, to call city council into emergency session and send it on the field against the Ticats.

"In one of its fighting moods the council would have put up a more spirited show." That's quite a mouthful especially when you're holding your nose.

Mayor Whitton said her proposed float design "was good enough for a team which lay down for good reasons." She didn't elaborate. But Red O'Quinn, general manager of the Roughies, said he thought he knew who put the garlic in Charlotte's soup.

"We had a team meeting last week," Mr. O'Quinn said, "at which the players were told the club couldn't take their wives to Vancouver if Ottawa made the Grey Cup game."

"Earlier we told them we would take their wives if they won the eastern championship. However, we were told at a league meeting that this offer constituted an incentive... There was a league rule against it and we could be fined $10,000 if we followed through with our original plan."

Mayor Whitton may be an expert on plumbing, hoof-in-mouth-oratory and getting newspaper ink. But she hardly seems qualified to arbitrarily pinpoint the basic cause for the downfall of the Ottawa football team.

Dave Could Tell Her About Ticats

As professionals, the Rough Riders play for money, not for "See-Canada-First" excursions for their wives. In the second place, who knows if the Roughies really wanted to bring their wives to Vancouver, a city noted for its cultural and tourist attractions... the Kubla Khan, Joe's Penthouse, Isy's ("across from the Art Gallery").

There is other evidence to support the theory that on Saturday, Nov. 16, 1963, no team in Canada could have done anything with Hamilton.

On three separate occasions this year, a respected Canadian football voice said: "If Hamilton plays up to its potential, there may not be a team in Canada that can stay on the same field with them." The voice, dear Charlotte, belonged to Dave Skrien.

This is not the first time Charlotte has been heard from. Only a week ago she opened her throat full bore and sprayed the Grey Cup parade committee with invective, not to mention some germs, probably.

"What kind of racket you operating?" she asked in her usual, genteel style. "You want $200 to put a float in and then you tell us the float has to be built in Vancouver, Bah!"

It's Hard to Talk Around a Football

In Vancouver, acting-mayor Marianne Linnell, who is outwitted by Miss Whitton but who is a considerable improvement to look at, weighed the charges carefully. Then she said: "There is no fee for a civic float. Ottawa can build it's float anywhere." Presumably it can be stuffed anywhere. Or just stuffed.

In shooting from the lip, Mayor Whitton seems to be mixed up. Perhaps a good person to straighten her out would be Frank Clair, the coach of the Ottawas.

Mr. Clair is a gentleman of studious mien who could easily pass for a professor of anthropology if he wasn't already engaged in handling livestock. The Professor, as he is known, could explain how on a given day everything the Hamiltons did came up gold and everything the Ottawas tried came up smelling like tired fish.

If that didn't work he could show Charlotte a football. When she asked "So?" he could answer "So!"—and shove it in the gap between her pearly teeth. That way she could still run—but not off at the mouth.

TROUBLES FOR LIONS COMING UP

Snow swirls in Vancouver's Empire Stadium Wednesday night as Saskatchewan quarterback Ron Lancaster prepares to deliver handoff to half-back Ray Purdin (31) in fourth quarter of Western Football Conference playoff game. Roughriders charged from behind in fourth quarter to upset B.C. Lions 13-8 and deadlock best-of-three final.

'I Feed 'Em Honestly... Treat 'Em Like Men...'

VANCOUVER — Of all the things that have been said and written about Saskatchewan's gallant Roughriders, none was more poignant than one of Bob Shaw's post-game comments.

"What do you feed these tigers?" someone asked the Saskatchewan coach after his comeback team whipped B.C. Lions 13-8 to deadlock the best-of-three Western Football Conference playoff at a game apiece.

"I feed 'em honestly and treat 'em like men," said Shaw. It was a comment that perhaps unveils an important reason why the Roughriders are fast becoming the giant-killers of Canadian football.

"There is no secret," the subdued Rider coach added. "These guys are the secret," he said with a wave of his arm. "They don't know when to give up."

Shaw, wearing a green football jersey, pulled at his peaked cap. Obviously he was elated, but there was remarkable calm as he congratulated his players.

While it was one of the happiest moments of his life, it was also one of the saddest. Shaw had received word that his mother lay dying at her home in a little town just outside Columbus, Ohio.

Would he rush home? "I don't think so," said Shaw. "She's in a coma. She wouldn't know me."

LIONS ASHAMED
In the Lions' dressing room, a disgusted silence prevailed. Few words were said and coach Dave Skrien had no hesitation in admitting the Lions "were ashamed of themselves."

"They knew they blew a big chance."

"It was our poorest game of the year."

"What happened out there? That's easy. Roughriders came to play and we didn't."

Roughies Fashion Another Miracle

Fourth-Quarter Comeback Squares Western Playoff

By HAL MALONE

EMPIRE STADIUM—Blue snow fell here Wednesday night. Premier Bennett embraced Robert Strachan. Hal Banks was named Canada's outstanding citizen of 1963. And Saskatchewan Roughriders smote B.C. Lions, 13-8.

You can't believe it, Eustace? Well, neither can...
1. Vancouver bookmakers, who made the Lions' 16-point favorites;
2. A soggy, shivering crowd of 26,738 fans who came for the kill and left asking themselves "what's going on here anyway?"

3. Lions' general manager, Herb Capozzi, who didn't bother to have tickets ready for the third game.

But there will be a third game to establish Western Football Conference sovereignty and representation in the Grey Cup. It will be played at Empire Stadium Saturday afternoon, and if you don't believe in miracles don't come.

This Saskatchewan team plays a little football—quite a little—but they defy all the laws of logic and gravity and common sense. They are so illogical they are quite apt to win everything—even Lord Grey's mug.

They had lost five straight times to the Lions this year. The last was convincing—19-7 when they couldn't run against B.C. and they couldn't keep B.C. far enough away to minimize the glossy kicking of Peter Kempf. The Roughies didn't even bring cripples Dale West or Ron Atchison, two fine defensive men, and little Ed Buchanan has so much water on the knee he gurgles when he walks.

Morris Roms 57 for Lions' Major

Nothing—not rain, nor hail, nor snow, nor the Roughriders—was expected to stem the Lions.

"They are good," Ron Lancaster, the Saskatchewan genius admitted. "You don't win 12 out of 16 if you don't know how to play this game. But they're not as good as they think they are. They key off (Joe) Kapp. He's their leader. He walks straight and tall and so do they. We don't really have a leader in the same sense. But we have pride. I mean it. We think we can beat B.C. Nobody else thinks so. But we don't care. We think so and that carries us a long way."

The Lions only once looked like a team that should be in the Grey Cup. Entering the second half they took advantage of a mixup in the Roughies' defensive assignments. No body went deep with Ron Morris who went in alone on a first play 57-yard pass-and-run effort. Peter Kempf's convert and single minutes later pushed them ahead 8-3 and made a field goal by Martin Fabi look woefully inadequate.

The Lions were five minutes and 44 seconds from tasting Grey Cup when the seat fell out of their pants. The Roughies don't ring any bells to warn you of impending disaster. They start innocently at the B.C. 51...

Ron Lancaster, for the 514th time, drifted back, peered through the blizzard, and hit Jack Gotta on the B.C. 35. First down. Lancaster again. To Bob Good, but only for three yards. On second and seven, Lancaster zeroes the ball to Hugh Campbell, "the best hands" the Roughies have. Free on the B.C. 15, he drops the ball.

There's no tomorrow for Losers back, dodges, looks, sidesteps, cranks and throws a wobbly looper. In behind the posts Dick Cohee reaches out and grabs the ball. Fabi rides the convert and it's Saskatchewan 10, B.C. 8.

Two minutes later there's confusion on the Saskatchewan bench and the Roughies have only 11 men on the field. Too late—the play has started. Joe Kapp throws deep but Bob Ptacek intercepts and shuffles down to the B.C. 29. Two line bucks get the ball in front of the posts and Fabi, who opened the game with field goal, closes with one. Saskatchewan 13, B.C. 8—and it's all over.

Wait a minute. Twice this night Joe Kapp has thrown "handle-with-care" passes to end Jerry Jones. Both times with his adversary beaten. Jones cost the company two certain touchdowns. But Kapp is a glutton for punishment. So he throws once more to Jones. This time "butterfingers" squeezes the pizgin to his bosom, toddles to the Saskatchewan 54.

Kapp peers through the blinding snow at the clock: 1:58 left. Same play to Jones. The pass is chest high, the ball nose up. Jones grabs it, spins forward to the 25-yard line and... fumbles.

In the press box, a Toronto writer shook his head: "Jerry Jones," he said, "is the best player on the Saskatchewan Roughriders." Chimed in a colleague: "If I was Kapp, I wouldn't go on field next game if he plays."

In the Saskatchewan boudoir they weren't tearing the wall paper down or throwing the coach in the cold shower or acting in any manner to suggest that something out of the ordinary had happened.

Lancaster, the little quarterback who looks like George Gobel (and talks like him), nonplussed and unmarked, said, "We didn't play well. My best passes were to (Norm) Fliegate (B.C. linebacker who intercepted twice). But we will continue on Page 15

PILOTE INJURED
Pierre-Pilote, Chicago's scrappy team captain and a big point-collector this season, suffered a fractured nose when hit by the puck in the final period. But it's not expected to sideline him.

NINTH HOME WIN
It was Chicago's ninth straight win on home ice and gave the Hawks 28 points, eight ahead of the Canadiens. The Red Wings, meanwhile, went winless on the road for the eighth time this season.

Rookie Eddie Joyal gave the Red Wings the 2-0 edge along with Barkley before Hull evened things up. Then the Hawks — although outshot for the 30th time in 18 games — pulled away on goals by Ken Wharram, defence man Elmer Vasko and Billy Hay.

Pistol Didn't Scare Rampaging Cougars

The Pistol returned to hockey but a shotgun might have been more effective against three young Cougars who seem determined to make the Victoria Hockey League their "happy hunting ground."

Just as baseball players are taking the big cut at the bat these days, swinging from the end of the bat for home runs, there has been an increase in slap shots in hockey the last ten years.

I beat Glenn Hall with a slap shot from 40 feet the first time we played Chicago this season. Ordinarily I prefer to make a drag shot or a wrist shot. You're much more accurate with them.

Coaches generally frown on slap shots for a couple of reasons. The first is the matter of accuracy. You have to have perfect timing if you're moving and the puck is moving to get a slap shot on the net.

Secondly, the time you take to wind up on a slap shot telegraphs your shot. It gives the goalie the split second to adjust for it, as well as rival defencemen. The element of surprise is lost.

In my case, Bill Gadsby gave me a perfect setup. He had intercepted a pass in mid-air. He carried it just over Chicago's blue line. As their defencemen moved to converge on him, he left the puck sitting still on the ice for me as he skated on in to screen Glenn.

He had really teed it up for me. It was sitting still. I had five feet to wait up to the puck and blast it. I aimed for—just inside the pipe to Glenn's right, chest high.

There's another reason the slap shot has its drawbacks. Sometimes the equipment can't take it. In a game with us at Madison Square Garden this season, Rod Gilbert of the New York Rangers tried a slap shot from 35 feet on left wing.

The blade broke right off the stick. He had good direction. The blade wound up in the net but the puck splintered off to the right.

West German Charge Stopped by U.S. Team

TORONTO (CP)—The United States rallied Wednesday night to stave off a determined bid by West Germany and remained in first place in the International team jumping at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair horse show.

West Germany picked up nine points to two for the Americans in the afternoon One-Chance States to move within two points of first place.

Then the United States team came back to win the night event, the International team class, in a jump-off after both teams tied with faultless first rounds.

Two Irish riders, Diana Conolly Carew on Barrymore, and Capt. Billy Ringrose on Loch En Espaign had clean opening rounds, but the third member of their team, Lieut. Ned Campion on Slabh Croit had eight faults to give Ireland third place.

Canada finished fourth. Tom Gayford of Toronto on Mapleigh had a faultless opening round, but Gail Ross of Edmonton on Thunderbird, with eight faults, and Melvin Stone of Toronto on Tigertown with 12 faults, gave the Canadian team a total of 20 jumping faults.

Team standings after Wednesday's competition: United States, 30; West Germany, 26; Ireland, 17; Canada, 12; and Argentina, 0.

Continued from Page 14 win Saturday if we can get some kind of running attack going. Tonight we couldn't and against the Lions it's like hanging up a sign saying, "we're going to pass—we can't run."

Coach Robert Shaw, slipping a straight oke, agreed that James had "helped us some." Then he swung his arm around the room where the Roughies sat in varying stages of undress and exhaustion and said slowly but with pride: "They can beat any football team in Canada if they want to."

In the other brain bin, Dave Skrien, more puzzled than disheartened, felt "It was the worst game we played all year. We dropped important passes. Injuries? No, we didn't hit hard enough to get hurt. We didn't have the final spark. We have come back every time after a bad game. I have to think we'll come back Saturday, too."

There was a last question. How did Janes feel about those passes he didn't hold?

Skrien took long seconds to digest this one. Looking up, he said softly: "He feels just the way you would expect him to feel."

Team standings after Wednesday's competition: United States, 30; West Germany, 26; Ireland, 17; Canada, 12; and Argentina, 0.

'NO VACANCY,' HE SAYS

Dief Against Contest

TORONTO (CP) — Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker said Wednesday night he would submit his leadership to a vote of confidence at the Progressive Conservative annual meeting in February but would oppose an open national leadership convention.

"You don't have leadership conventions unless there is a vacancy," he told reporters. "I am the leader and there is no vacancy."

The Conservative Association in suburban Don Mills had called for a national leadership convention, open to all comers, by next June at the latest. Mr. Diefenbaker said there is no law against anyone opposing his leadership at the annual meeting.

He made the remarks after addressing the 75th anniversary celebrations of St. John's Presbyterian Church here.

Hospital Death Rate 'In Line'

NORTH COWICHAN — Death rate of newborn babies at King's Daughters' Hospital in Duncan compares favorably with the provincial and national average, Coun. Mrs. Elaine Dobbey told North Cowichan municipal council Wednesday.

She quoted the following figures for the local hospital: 1958, 1.4 per cent; 1959, 1.2 per cent; 1960, 1.3 per cent; 1961, 1.7 per cent, and 1962, 1.1 per cent. She stated that the hospital's rate since 1958 has averaged 1.3½ deaths per 1,000 infants. The provincial and Canadian averages for 1960 were 1.49 and 1.63 infant deaths per 1,000 respectively.

Coun. Dobbey said that "although every death is regarded as a failure by the hospital and medical staff, deceased and congenitally deficient babies are born, and in spite of everything possible being done, some die in hospital."

The revised annual budget for 1963, passed by the council, recorded appropriations for general purposes amounting to $1,426,617, a net decrease of $11,361 over the annual budget.

C. Simons Ratepayers' President

DUNCAN — C. Simons was elected president of the North Cowichan Southside Ratepayers' Association Tuesday night.

Vice-president elected was D. Day, and secretary-treasurer R. Waddy.

Guest speakers for the evening were candidates for office on the North Cowichan municipal council, including Tony Staples of Maple Bay, who resigned from his seat as councillor to run for the reeveship.

Other speakers were Coun. Mrs. Elaine Dobbey, seeking re-election; W. T. Bowles, Chemainus, who had served on the council in 1960 and 1961; T. E. Kay, of Chemainus, who wishes to run for the one-year unexpired council seat vacated by Mr. Staples; Charles Douglas, Chemainus, who served on the council from 1948 to 1951; George Whittaker, former council member for six years and former trustee on the Cowichan school board for six years; M. McKenna, Crofton, and John Cannon, Duffin.

Incumbent Reeve Donald Morton was unable to attend because of previous engagements. Coun. Reg Clegg and new candidate D. A. Barr were unable to attend because of illness.

Duncan Girl Wins Tennis Bursary

DUNCAN — Elizabeth Philpot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. C. Philpot, Nagle Street, has won a $100 bursary donated by the B.C. Tennis Patrons' Association.

It is awarded annually to the University of B.C. student contributing the most to tennis throughout the year.

She is a graduate of Queen Margaret's School here, and during the past summer she assisted former Davis Cup player Paul Willey, now a professional coach at Vancouver Lawn Tennis Club.

Miss Philpot's bursary was accepted by Aft Stevenson at the annual meeting of the B.C. Lawn Tennis Association at the Jericho Tennis Club in Vancouver. He and Jim Longbourne attended as delegates of South Cowichan Lake Tennis Club.

Chairman Leaving To Take New Post

CAMPBELL RIVER — R. D. Jamieson, chairman of the village commission for the past four years, will not stand for re-election as previously announced.

Jack Lee, a six-year veteran of council whose term expires next month, has announced he will seek the chairman's post.

Mr. Jamieson, an engineer, has accepted a position with a Vancouver firm and takes up his new post at the end of December.

A prime mover behind the study group to look into the formation of a district municipality, he said he would have liked to have become the reeve of a bigger district municipality.

Victoria Jaycees Join Yule Cruise

Canadian and American Santa Claus plan a rendezvous in Canadian waters.

Contest Assured

COURTENAY — Two women running for office of alderman assure voters of a contest in the forthcoming council election.

Nomination papers have been filed by Mrs. Geoff Kirk and former alderman Mrs. Myrtle Vickberg.

The incumbents, Aldermen W. Bruce Gordon, Ken Willis and Harry Harris, have indicated their intention to seek re-election.

Mayor W. C. Moore so far appears unopposed in his election for the chief magistrate's chair.

School board trustee Ben Hughes of Courtenay will seek re-election, but the Comox trustee Howard Quinn will not run again. No other candidate has as yet been announced.

In Comox, council chairman Len Burchell will stand for re-election but William Longland is retiring from office. No one has been named to contest the seat left by Mr. Longland.

This year the Victoria Jaycees are responding to a request by the Bellingham Chamber of Commerce to help out with the Christmas Ship cruise project.

For 12 years an international Christmas ship, sponsored by the Bellingham group has cruised the west-coast waters making a dozen calls on San Juan and Gulf Islands.

This year 15 Victoria Jaycees will set off in a 65-foot cruiser Dec. 21.

The Blue Fjord donated by J. K. Norgaard will be decked out with a Christmas tree and bunting as it sails through the Gulf Island waters bringing Christmas carols, treats and Santa Claus to both American and Canadian children.

Among the American ports of call will be Friday Harbor and on the Canadian side many children on Indian reserves in the Ladysmith area will be visited.

Meeting place for the American and Canadian Santa Claus on their two-day cruise will be Ganges, Salt Spring Island.

CAMPBELL RIVER INTERESTED

Amalgamation Study Planned

CAMPBELL RIVER — A study group will be formed here to look into the problems and benefits of the village and the three surrounding unorganized areas joining together to form a district municipality.

Representatives of the village council and Willow Point, Quinsam Heights, and North Campbell River water districts will hold their initial meeting late next month with the village as host.

Decision to set up the study group followed a meeting called by MLA Dan Campbell and attended by representatives of all four areas.

Mr. Campbell told the meeting that "the time has come when the elected representatives should make a critical examination of the form local government is to take in the years ahead."

In presenting many points for consideration and study, the MLA said it was "intolerable" that many thousands of dollars in land improvement and land taxation should be channelled to Victoria, completely out of local control.

He warned the group there would be many complex problems that would arise, and it would be necessary for the study group to keep open minds.

QUADRA FERRY TAKING REST

CAMPBELL RIVER — The Quadra Queen will be out of service this weekend for repairs.

The busy little ferry hit a deadhead in mid-channel last week and vibration is severe.

Emergency service for the foot passengers only will be maintained on a regular schedule by another vessel Saturday and Sunday.

Truly - a
rum!

Mr. Lemon Hart's rums travel for a reason. Made in the heart of the West Indies they are then sent to England because the moist airs of England are traditionally the finest in the world for maturing rums. After quiet years in England they are perfectly blended, bottled and shipped to Canada and throughout the world. These expensively brought up rums, full of light-hearted charm and flavour, are happily available to Canadians at home and abroad.

BONNER PLEDGES STUDY

'Every MLA An Ombudsman'

Attorney-General Bonner doesn't agree an ombudsman is required in B.C.

But he is willing to study the matter, he said in interview.

An ombudsman is a one-man court of last resort employed in some countries to investigate complaints of individuals against government.

He has broad powers of investigation and can make public findings which may bring about reforms through public reaction.

A B.C. ombudsman has been proposed in the past by the NDP and Liberal parties in the legislature. Recently the proposal was endorsed by the Social Credit party in convention.

Mr. Bonner, advised of this on his return from Europe last weekend, said he felt each MLA was an ombudsman and B.C. has 52 now.

Commenting on a B.C. Federation of Labor convention request for doubling jury pay to $16 a day, Mr. Bonner was non-committal.

OTHER ARGUMENT

He said he could appreciate the argument for higher pay. But he said there was also an argument for no payment at all.

Jury pay this year is expected to total $120,000. An increase has been considered in the past, but other matters were given priority, Mr. Bonner said.

He said the next session of the legislature, which opens Jan. 23, would take steps to clarify the legal status of the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

A Supreme Court decision on the B.C. Electric takeover, issued last summer, said the creation of B.C. Hydro from the B.C. Electric and B.C. Power Commission was legally improper.

But Mr. Bonner said, so far as the government is concerned, B.C. Hydro has been the legal crown authority since its creation in 1952.

He said the problem is legal rather than practical and may be solved by legislation.

Public Must Wait To Inspect UVIC Area Plan

Saanich council lands and planning committee will examine the completed draft of a university district plan before outside groups have a chance to see it.

Committee made the decision Tuesday night when planner Tony Parr told members the draft is nearing completion.

He recommended that Oak Bay and Victoria councils, ratepayer associations and University of Victoria development board be given an opportunity to see and comment on the area plan before it is given final approval by the committee.

The plan covers all Saanich land east of Blenkinsop, part of Oak Bay and the city.

Closed Circuit Television Praised Here as Useful Teaching Aid

By TERRY MATTE
Closed circuit television is practical and economical when used as a teaching aid, a group of science teachers here was told Wednesday night.

Arthur Mayse

After searching my conscience for blemishes the other morning, I dropped in as a non-paying guest at Central Magistrate's Court, where I found that the mills of justice grind brisk as ever. Their trappings have altered considerably since I last observed them, though.

For one thing, the courtroom in our handsome new Saanich police headquarters doesn't smell right. It lacks the traditional legalistic odor of ancient varnish, dust, and stagnant air. A search of ante-rooms and corridors also failed to turn up a single big brass cuspidor.

But from between Red Ensign and Union Jack, the Queen still gazes with an impartial eye upon those who administer her laws and those who bust them; the witness box is no more tempting a spot to linger than it ever was; and the back still paces to his bench a decent few minutes later.

His honor on the day of my visit was Magistrate J. A. Byers, who came to Victoria after extensive service as a colonial judge in British India. The blue pullover worn under his jacket against the nip of a chilly day failed to detract from the dignity that goes with clipped grey mustache and judicial bearing.

Judge Byers sported no gown. Neither did his court functionaries nor the three lawyers present on behalf of absentee clients. Magistrate's court is the funnel through which all Criminal Code charges must pass. It hasn't time for flourishes.

The docket was pretty humdrum, no big fish in the police net. Except for one citizen who looked every inch an indignant taxpayer, none of the customers seemed of a mind to make the court extend itself.

"Guilty," they pled, in voices thick or thin, and stood like erring students before a principal to receive judgment.

Mostly, these were up for traffic offences. Their sentences ranged from a $250 fine and six months' suspension to a $10 levy which the offender paid from his hip pocket to the officer who sat alongside the press table with a thick receipt book before him.

Of the others, a heavy majority asked time to pay, and in only one case were they refused.

This exception was a silkily told the Victoria chapter of the B.C. Science Teachers' Association that the use of closed circuit TV in the classroom would not reduce the number of teachers needed, but would assist them in maintaining a high standard of instruction.

"The classroom teacher is a necessity, not as a babysitter but as a reinforcement," he said.

"The teacher, partially freed from teaching duties, may more closely observe how well the students are absorbing the material."

Mr. Mathews illustrated the various applications of television in education by demonstration and by showing a film prepared in the U.S.

He said the use of TV in schools is still largely experimental, but said studies have indicated closed circuit television, used in conjunction with regular classroom teachers, is as effective or more effective than the present system.

A closed circuit system could also be used to police hallways, lunchrooms and washrooms, he added.

He said a system might be started by installing one stationary transmitter in a classroom to show small objects, diagrams and displays on a single monitor.

Such an installation would be sufficient for a class of about 30, he said, and would cost about $50 a month.

Additional monitors could be added at a cost of $8 each, he said.

A closed circuit system in its most expanded form would include a complete studio capable of broadcasting up to six programs simultaneously.

The programs could be delivered via cable to a large number of classrooms throughout the entire school district.

Mr. Mathews said this would enable teachers specializing in one subject to reach a large audience. The classroom teacher would receive an advance outline of the lesson, and could be directly involved in the lecture when it is transmitted.

Lessons could be recorded on video tape, easily edited and stored for future use, Mr. Mathews said.

When questioned about the relative cost of video tape and film, he said tape is cheaper ($35 for an hour program), more flexible and can be used up to 250 times.

He'll Found a Dynasty

Thoughts of foals frisking in fields of green seem far fetched at this bleak time of the year, but many horse-owners are turning their mind's eye in that direction.

Bookings are being made for breeding next year, and one of the best prospects in B.C. for Thoroughbreds is a stallion who now calls Victoria his home. He is Splendo, the handsome chestnut shown above who is standing at stud at the stables of Roy Jewell at 728 Beaver Lake Road. Splendo, who was purchased as a yearling for $31,000, has been leased by the Darshan racing stable with Jewell as handler. The big nine-year-old who scored his first win at Golden Gate and was a winner also at both Del Mar and Bay Meadows, has an impressive ancestry. His sire, Ardan, was a stake winner in England and France, and has produced many stake winners. The dam was Boudoir 2nd of Mahmoud-Kampala M stock who has thrown many illustrious foals. Christmas Ferry Trips Increased

British Columbia Ferry Authority will increase its sailings on major routes for Christmas.

Officials estimate the rush will begin Dec. 20. The Tsawwassen-Swartz Bay service will provide hourly trips both ways Dec. 20, 21, 22, 23, 24 and 26.

Christmas Day and the New Year holiday will see two-hour service, the regular winter schedule, in effect.

The Horseshoe Bay-Nanaimo (Departure Bay) service will be bolstered by four extra trips each way on the dates listed. The same applies to the Horseshoe Bay-Langdale service through Howe Sound.

Officials are hoping for smooth sailing weather—smoother than that which occurred Tuesday when winds of over 50 miles per hour swept the Gulf of Georgia.

During the period, dining rooms were closed on some vessels to avoid spills.

Mayor Sets Up 3-Way Harbor Improvement Meeting in Ottawa

Mayor R. B. Wilson today arranged for a joint federal-provincial-civic discussion in Ottawa next month intended to start the ball rolling towards improvement of the Inner Harbor.

The mayor won agreement for a preliminary meeting from federal public works department officials during his visit to Ottawa last week with the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities executive to present a brief to the cabinet.

He also won approval from provincial government sources this morning.

The meeting will be held Dec. 17 in Ottawa when Mayor Wilson and provincial representatives attend the next meeting of the Canada-Centennial Committee set up by the federal government.

PRELIMINARY
This will be a preliminary meeting at which we will try to define the areas of responsibility for the three levels of government," he said.

Victoria for some time has been seeking help from the senior governments for a plan involving dredging of the Inner Harbor, construction of a lower promenade to bolster The Causeway and beautification.

The mayor also took advantage of his Ottawa trip to meet department of transport officials to urge them to expedite previously announced plans to centralize marine activities in the Inner Harbor and build a multi-million-dollar headquarters building.

The department has marked time ever since the plans were announced and city council is concerned that it may be abandoned.

"I am hopeful that a representative from Ottawa will visit Victoria in the near future to examine the whole situation further," the mayor said in reporting his interview with Ottawa officials.

EARLIER LOSSES
This was the fourth accident to scows or barges under tow to ITB tugs since June, when a boxcar barge loaded with fruit and vegetables turned over, also near Trial Island. In this case, the barge was holed by an unseen underwater object.

ITB also lost a tanker off Coos Bay, Oregon, and a similar craft near Cape Flattery. Both these accidents were due to very heavy weather.

Guns to Fire
Fifteen Field Regiment RCA will carry out firing practice at the Albert Head range from 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and 9 to 11 a.m. Sunday.

Weapons used will be 105 mm howitzers, firing to seaward.

Mr. Wallace told a campaign meeting that the RCN has shown leadership to all of Greater Victoria, the more remarkable because to many sailors this is not home, but an adopted community.

He congratulated Capt. Dick Leir, navy representative on the United Appeal campaign committee.

$33,000 SHORT
Overall, the fund drive is still $33,000 short of its $400,000 target, just approaching the 92 per cent mark.

The appeal ends its campaign Friday and officials expect to have collected $378,000 by that time. Late returns from some canvasser divisions are expected after the deadline, however.

The money goes to 24 welfare and community service agencies whose work is estimated to touch the lives of one in every six Greater Victoria residents.

Tide Rips Dump Hog Fuel Barge

4th Mishap For Company Since June

Heavy winds and tidal rips near Trial Island capsize an Island Tug and Barge Ltd. scow at 4:15 p.m. Wednesday, dumping its cargo of hog fuel into Juan de Fuca Strait.

The barge, ITB 34, was one of two under tow to the tug Anna B. Gore, bound from Sooke to Crofton.

When wind and wave combined to attack the tow, the cargo of hog fuel (sawmill waste) settled in to a compact mass at one side of the scow, finally forcing it over in a complete flip.

The accident was spotted by the lightkeeper at Trial Island. Island Tug sent a small harbor tug out to relieve the Anna B. Gore of her overturned scow so she could proceed to Crofton with the other.

The ITB 34 was towed into the Inner Harbor later Wednesday, and was tied up alongside the CPR refit jetty. A diver carried out underwater survey today, and found no damage.

Salvage work was to begin today. A complicated combination of weight applied by bottom mud and an A frame derrick barge was expected to put the scow right-side up again.

The ITB 34 is of wooden construction, 130 feet long and 38 feet in beam, built in 1943.

The cargo she was carrying, dubbed "hog fuel" in the logging business, is useful only if mixed with oil and used as fuel in pulp and paper mills.

PETERSON JUGGLES RULES TO STRETCH YULE HOLIDAY

Education Minister Leslie Peterson has played hopscotch with the laws to allow a longer Christmas holiday for B.C. school children.

He announced in Vancouver Wednesday that the back-to-school day has been extended from Jan. 3 to Jan. 6.

Mr. Peterson was according to a request from parents and teachers which, he said, "seems reasonable."

School regulations specify that Christmas holidays must end Jan. 3.

That's a Friday next year, which meant returning to school for one day and then off again for the weekend.

In order to circumvent the regulations, Mr. Peterson declared Jan. 3 a school holiday, which he is allowed to do under other regulations.

CD PLANNER SPEAKS

U.S. Arena Blast 'Just Negligence'

The disastrous arena explosion that killed or hurt 370 persons in Indianapolis Halloween night was "just criminal negligence," an Ottawa civil defence planner told a hospital disaster institute here today.

Dr. William S. Hacon, hospital services medical consultant for the health and welfare department, used the Indiana blast as an example of hospital preparedness without community planning.

He spoke to 60 delegates at Vancouver Island hospital disaster institute which opened a two-day session at Empress Hotel. It is the second in a series of five between 1963 and 1965 in various B.C. centres.

Participants tonight were to see a full-scale simulated disaster treatment program at Royal Jubilee Hospital, where 100 victims of Memorial Arena collapse were to be taken.

Dr. Hacon was in Indianapolis last week, spoke to people who had been in the blast, saw the shattered arena, and attended a disaster planning meeting.

He said the explosion was caused by propane gas in a popcorn concession beneath the concrete seats and enclosed by concrete walls.

Tanks were stored in such a way that radiant heat from a popcorn machine expanded the gas and set off a safety valve on the propane cylinders.

He touched on trends in shopping habits toward the city centre.

A man found cutting up copper tubing in a junk yard Wednesday afternoon pleaded guilty in city police court today to attempting to steal it.

Court was told that Norman Moore, no fixed address, was found in a Northern Junk Co. yard with a hacksaw, knife and tin snips, industriously cutting up a large quantity of copper tubing.

He was remanded one week for a pre-sentence report.

The Old Age Pensioners Association (Group 55) will meet in St. Mark's Church Hall at 2 p.m. on Friday.

Director of the Greater Victoria Community Welfare Council, Jack Anguish will speak on "The Latest On Social Planning" at a meeting of the B.C. Association of Social Workers, Vancouver Island branch tonight at 8 in Spencerhouse.

City finance committee today recommended council donate the former Chaplin Funeral Home property at Quadra and Meares to the new YM-YWCA building site provided the organization land-scapes it to city specifications.

The additional area is needed for the "Y" building, committee was told. The property was purchased with funds from the T. S. McPherson estate which also included a direct bequest to the "Y."

Police claim that someone later requested the move be made only as far as Surrey, but the original warrants for payment went through anyway.

POPULATION NOW 1,708,000 UP 38,000 IN PAST YEAR

B.C.'s population increased 38,000 during the past year. This is one of the fastest rates of growth in Canada.

There were 1,708,000 people in B.C. on Oct. 1, date of the latest survey by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

This is 2.3 per cent more than in 1962, a rate of growth equalled only by Alberta and Newfoundland.

The slowest growth was in Saskatchewan, where the population increased only 4,000 to 935,000.

Canada's population tops 19,000,000, an increase of 1.8 per cent over 1962.

The figures were circulated in this month's report of the provincial trade department.

Pair Remanded In City Court On Alleged Fraud

An ex-soldier and a moving company executive, charged with conspiring to defraud the Canadian treasury of more than $500, today in city police court were remanded to Dec. 3 for continuation of a preliminary hearing.

Gary Albert Warrington Pope, formerly of the PCCLI at Work Point, and Leonard Bieller, president of Blue and White Transfer, are charged jointly.

The Crown alleges that the treasury paid, on behalf of the defence department, for the transfer of Pope's furnishings and household effects from 1002 Carberry Gardens to Winnipeg, his place of enlistment.

Police claim that someone later requested the move be made only as far as Surrey, but the original warrants for payment went through anyway.

Area Labor Group Enters Esquimalt Campaign Scrap

By JOHN MIKA

Esquimalt's uncharacteristic but entertaining political ruckus continued growing today and appeared certain to be the eye-catcher of all Greater Victoria election campaigns next month.

The controversy over alleged silencing of an RCN officer as spokesman for a voters' group boiled over with a demand by Victoria Labour Council that Reeve A. C. Wurtele explain or resign.

Reeve Wurtele, meanwhile, announced he will face his reevehip rival Coun. Bert Nelson in a close-quarter debate if it is arranged by a non-partisan group.

Coun. Nelson said he would be happy to have a public debate with the reeve.

"I'll attend any meeting, I'm not ashamed of my stand," he said, referring to a motion he seconded at the last council meeting to censure the reeve.

DEFINITE RIGHT
"I feel that servicemen have a definite right, and are encouraged by the services, to express their opinions on municipal affairs," he said.

"I was in the navy 20 years and I know that servicemen should stay out of federal or provincial politics."

"But civic affairs is a different thing entirely. It is not partisan politics—it deals with how your own home is treated."

Reeve Wurtele said he will stand on his record and pointed out there is no election issue aside from the attack on himself.

Mrs. Edith Gunning, president of the Association of Women Electors, said her organization would be happy to arrange such a meeting but "only if all candidates agree to attend it."

The VLC resolution was based on suggestions that Reeve Wurtele went to Rear-Admiral W. M. Landymore to force Lieut. Percy Boyd to quit as spokesman for the Esquimalt Voters' Association, a newly-formed group backing a slate opposed to the reeve.

The resolution said such a charge dealt with dangerous

procedures infringing on civil rights and freedom of speech.

B.C. Federation of Labour vice-president E. T. Staley said the council should try to find out exactly what occurred.

"If this took place and this man's position was threatened it would be a mighty dangerous thing to have happen in Canada," he said.

William Gauld, Canadian Labour Congress representative, told the labour council the only knew what he had read in the papers.

"But if this is true, it is wrong that a man be suppressed. We have always championed the underdog and believe a man has the right to support the candidate of his choice," he said.

Santa Agrees That These Are 'Tres Magnifique'

By PENNY SAVER

There's a fair chance that Santa will "Ho, ho, ho!" with a French accent this year. The possibility has nothing to do with the present emphasis on biculturalism. It will be because he's so enthusiastic about the "specials" by a well-known French perfumer that are bound to add an extra fillip to his pack.

Wife of druggist who stocks this line of French colognes is surprised. "I've been selling these products for 35 years and it's the first time I've ever known the firm to reduce prices."

Formerly selling at $10, the irresistible "Nuit de Noel" (Christmas Night) is now priced at $6.75 for a six-ounce bottle. Also available at same reduction is fragrant "Fleurs de Ro-caille". Usually $9, a six-ounce bottle of "Bellodgia" sells at $6. Smart huddies should get their order in to Santa right away!

Following suit, another French cologne exporter has cut prices on two lines of popular sets that are designed to woo the favors of any woman on Christmas morning. Sets contain a 1½-ounce of eau de cologne and ¼-ounce bottle of matching perfume.

Sets formerly sold at $13 and are now priced at $6.50. They come in fragrances of "Shallimar" and "L'Huere Bleue".

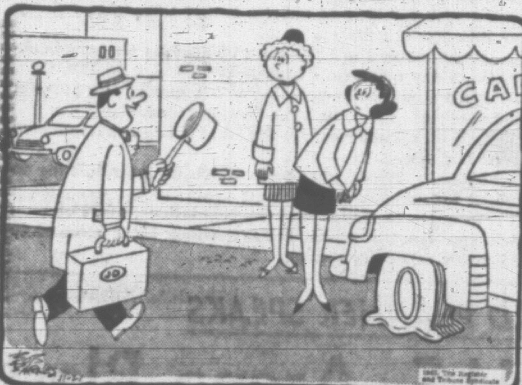

For the woman who leads a busy life and likes to have a handy stick perfume tucked away in her purse as an emergency freshener, there's an easy-to-use half-ounce stick that sells at $2.35. It has a swivel top and is available in popular "Chantilly" fragrance.

Another favorite in same scent is the cream perfume that can be used with such subtlety. This comes in ¼-ounce tube and is priced at $2.65. Container is the epitome of good taste with its gold top and body of delicate filigree.

If you have a hubby that loves to present you with a Christmas gift that has a fashionable "je-ne-sais-quoi", be smart and leave Penny's phone number in a prominent place. It's 382-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Biggest Teen Figure Fault? Nothing More Than Worry!

I am giving a couple of days this week to my teen-age readers.

Many of you worry needlessly about your figures. This is especially true during early teen-age years.

Body types are individual. One woman may have thin legs, a large bust, and a straight up and down waistline and flat hips while another may have heavy hips and a small bust. Bone structure and distribution of weight both play a part.

Also, certain ages have typical figures. The usual figure for a girl 12 or 13 is sometimes even 14, is a thick waist with a small bust. This is an awkward time for a girl when it is difficult to find attractive clothes. At this age many girls worry about their large waistline and small bosom. I always tell them to "give nature time."

The weight distribution of a girl of 12 and a woman of 19 are usually entirely different. Given a few years more the chubby girl of 13 will be magically changed into a streamlined young woman of 19. Have patience!

The age at which the bust develops varies greatly. Some girls reach near full development by the age of 14 while others do not achieve full development until the age of 17 or 18.

Even the face changes during these years from the rounded less classical little girl features to the more sharply defined contours of maturity. So don't worry. Wait and let nature have a chance at you.

However an early interest in appearance and good grooming is of the greatest value to a girl. She enters her young womanhood with confidence and self-assurance. If you are overweight do something about it, but do it sensibly. Overweight can make you shy and self-conscious and ruin your fun and personality!

If you would like to have my leaflet "Popularity," which gives you diet suggestions along with other help, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet number 58 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

SPADEA DESIGNER PATTERN

NS-340

Irene Gilbert

One of the most important fashion successes of the season is the long skirt for evening. If you want to be "with it," make one right away whether your evenings are spent at balls, going to dinner and theatre, or just at home with a good man and an old movie on TV. Irene Gilbert's entry in this sweepstakes that is sweeping the country has a flirty, provocative slit almost up to the knee, and side gathers at the waistband to give ease over the tummy and hips. The separate blouse with its scalloped bottom has bust darts set into the underarm gussets, a trick that adds bosom shape while it slims down the sidelines. Lace, which is big news again would be lovely for the top over a velvet skirt; also investigate oriental design brocades; if you're a country girl, the skirt in one of the fluffy mohairs with a top of fake suede. While you're at it, make up the short version too, with a matching top—wonderful for bridge-luncheons. To select your correct size, use Spadea's exclusive ready-to-wear size chart.

Sizes	Bust	Waist	Hips	*Length
10	34	24	35	16½ inches
12	35	25	36	16½ inches
14	36½	26½	37½	17 inches
16	38	28	39	17½ inches
18	40	30	41	17½ inches

*From nape of neck to waist.

Size 12 requires 1½ yards of 95" fabric for overblouse and 1½ yards of 36" fabric for lining; the long skirt requires 2½ yards of 36" fabric and the street length skirt requires 1½ yards of 36" fabric.

Saanich Church Bazaar and Tea

St. Stephen's Woman's Auxiliary will hold its Christmas tea and bazaar in the parish hall, Mt. Newton Crossroad, on Saturday from 2 p.m. There will be stalls of needlework, white elephant, home cooking, plants, Christmas puddings and a Christmas tree for the children.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been sick for a year. The doctor said he will last maybe another three months, four at the most. I want to know if it would be proper for me to wear a large black picture hat with a wide brim and a black sheer veil over it for his funeral. My friend says veils are worn with only small hats, but I am a large woman and don't look good in small hats. Also, could I wear a black tailored suit with a green and blue flowered blouse, or must I wear all black? If I wear all black, would it be all right to wear one large piece of costume jewelry?

PREPARING AHEAD.

DEAR ABBY: Wear dark clothing, and dress as inconspicuously as possible. A funeral is not a fashion show. And you appear to be so preoccupied with what you will wear that one might suspect you can hardly wait for the occasion.

DEAR ABBY: Joe and I were married in 1958 by a justice of the peace. The first two years we had two babies. Neither of us was grown up enough to accept the responsibilities of marriage, so it ended in divorce shortly after the second baby came. I went home to my parents. We have been divorced nearly three years and in that time we have both matured a lot. We've been seeing each other, and have decided to try marriage again. I want a church wedding with a white gown and veil, Abby. I know this is not done for second marriages, but I think my case is the exception because there has never been another man in my life except Joe. And this, to me, is really like our first marriage. Please say it's all right. STARS IN MY EYES.

DEAR ABBY: How should a mother-in-law treat her ex-daughter-in-law? My son married a lovely girl. We grew very fond of one another and a truly good friendship followed. Then their marriage went sour. I can't turn off my feelings like a spigot for this girl. My son thinks I am being disloyal to him because I haven't dropped her like a hot potato. Their children are still my grandchildren. Am I wrong?

MOTHER-IN-LAW.

Happy Holiday Clothes for Party Sports, Home Wear Shown at Tea

Sponsored by the alumnae association of the hospital's school of nursing, the fashion show was presented afternoon and evening. A sum of $350 was realized for the bursary fund.

Strict Diets Help Produce Big Babies

MONTREAL (CP) — A research project at Montreal's Royal Victoria Hospital has shown a woman gives birth to a larger, healthier baby when her diet is strictly controlled during pregnancy.

Dr. Thomas Primrose, director of the project, told the Montreal Kiwanis Club Tuesday the women were divided into three groups under the experiment.

Diet supplements were given to one group in the last 10 weeks of pregnancy, to another in the last 20 weeks and for the third in the entire pregnancy.

He said the average infant born by women in the 10-week bracket weighed six pounds and was 19 inches tall. This increased to an average of seven pounds and 20 1/4 inches in the 20-week group and eight pounds, two ounces and 21 inches for the full-pregnancy bracket.

Some 180 women took part in the project and there were no premature births. One death occurred, arising from an unrelated cause.

TEEN-AGE CANADA

Boys and Girls Hooked for Life

The number of Canadian teen-agers hooked for life on smoking is increasing every day, according to a survey by this column.

This phenomenon is happening every day in every city, town or village in Canada — despite the strongest warning campaign we've ever known.

A Vancouver 14-year old girl summed it up. "If you don't accept a cigarette, you aren't counted as one of the group. And who wants to be out?"

Very few teen-agers have what it takes to "be out," according to our correspondence. The same pattern showed up all across the country: teen-agers aren't listening to warnings about the dangers of smoking.

The question came up several months ago when I mentioned the fact that the Canadian Cancer Society and several other groups are worried that smoking seems to be a status symbol for teen-agers.

A small pin for those who decided to bypass smoking was produced several months ago. But I personally have never noticed one on anyone. What happened to the pins I don't know.

Scoffers

The first letters answering the column were all from readers who scoffed at warnings about smoking. This didn't bother me—at first. What did alarm me was that no one spoke up for the other side.

Therefore, several friends have conducted private surveys during the last three months. Each kept a small notebook handy during August, September and October, quietly jotting down opinions of their friends.

What emerged were capsule comments from almost 500 teen-agers, ranging in age from 13 to 19. Many said they were already smoking "a pack a day" by the age of 15. Some had developed the habit by 13.

Here's what a Winnipeg 16-year-old boy had to say. "The warnings we hear would be a lot more impressive if we didn't see adults disregarding their own advice every minute of the day."

"The Canadian Medical Association frowns on smoking, but the heaviest smokers I know is a doctor who lives close to us. And I could never place much stock in what my folks said because they'd die without a morning cigarette."

She's Kicked

A Halifax 17-year-old girl was one person who didn't smoke. But she added: "I was in a restaurant the other day sitting next to a booth where a girl was taking a merciless kidding from friends because she didn't smoke."

"Every time they lit up a cigarette, someone would offer her one and act surprised when she refused. They were calling her 'Mama's girl,' and I even think her boyfriend was embarrassed."

"Finally, just before I left, the poor girl took a cigarette. They all broke out in cheers and her date beamed from ear to ear. What a sad thing to see."

The Gang

I asked my correspondents to ask whether advertising was the main factor in influencing their friends. Very few said that it was. The gang was a far more important factor in almost every case.

"I really don't know," said a 16-year-old girl from Belleville, Ont. "The advertisements I see certainly make the whole thing look like fun. But I think I started smoking because my boyfriend already was."

There's the picture as I see it. How many of you agree? Let's hear your opinions through this newspaper.

Tie Problem

Wayne Marshall, 15, of Halifax, asks whether anyone has ever decided which tie knot is the most popular one used by Canadian teen-agers.

"I've noticed in magazines that lots of fellows get interesting effects by tying their ties differently, getting either a bulky effect, or a thin one."

"Why don't you do a column sometimes on the various tie knots you can use for the sake of all-thumbs fellows like me? And which tie knot, by the way, is the most popular one?"

I wish I could help Wayne, but many of you probably know far more about this than I do. As far as I know, the Windsor knot is the most widely-used, but I could be miles behind the times.

Let us know if you know a tie knot that is different from the ordinary, and we will pass it on for the benefit of Wayne and other fellows who might be interested. I might even try it myself.

English Aid

Two readers have written to ask if there is any one book that stands out as a handy tool for writing.

My personal nomination is one that you've probably already seen: Mastering Effective English, written by J. C. Tresler and C. E. Lewis, and published by Copp Clark Publishing Co. Ltd.

I read the book some time ago, but had forgotten how valuable it was until I bought another copy a few weeks ago. You'll find it answers most of the questions that may plague you.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Tammy Grimes has flipped her perruques (that means wigs) over Albert the lover Finney of "Luther" and "Tom Jones." "She can't see enough of the lad," says one of Finney's British pals, who tells of her, impassioned phoning after Finney. Finney's got several gals drooly; he could be "the Burton of Broadway."

"DARLING, you look so YOUNG! What did you do—go to Switzerland?" That crack, implying that you got a face lift or some youth shots, is the new fastie in the Mad World We Live In. Hildegarde, opening last night at the Roosevelt Grill, said she's been asked that recently. Hilde, in a book and a song both titled "Over 50, So What?" says Merman still has crinoline. Gypsy still does her striptease with her zipsie, and Marlene isn't any tamer... and they're all 50. The moral is that there are plenty of swiftness in their fifties.

Lucille Ball—who says she won't decide much before her Dec. 15 deadline whether she'll do TV next year—told me she, for one, isn't afraid of over-exposure. "There are three or four of us," she says, "who are exposed all over the world 3 or 4 hours a day, and it's a pleasure to state that it hasn't hurt."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Paul Anka's first American entertainer invited by the Polish govt; he'll tour five cities... Sybil Burton isn't pining for Richard—she's learning to dance the hully gully and The Monkey from Killer Joe Piro of the Steak Pit).

Perle Mesta, the model for Ethel Merman's "Call Me Madam," has been in twice to see Ethel at the Persian Rm... Sterling Hayden's novel will be titled "Triumph of Blasphemy"... Morey Amsterdam's touring to publicize American-International Films, which makes many horror movies; he makes his entrance onstage from a coffin.

Hugh Wedlock, a former Jack Benny gag writer now working for Jackie Gleason, said, "I sure wish Gleason was a cheapskate... I got an awful lot of -cheapskate jokes left over."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "I'm going to get rid of my refrigerator," says Taffy Tuttle. "It's too much trouble to cut ice into those little squares to fit into the trays."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A local man says he's reached the most disappointing period of his life—his wife now trusts him.—Wichita (Kans.) Eagle.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Too many people don't care what happens, as long as it doesn't happen to them."—William Howard Taft.

EARL'S PEARLS: When things get a little tough nowadays, some people find they're forced to do without a few things their parents never had. "My wife hasn't spoken to me in three weeks," reports Jack Herbert. "Tell me—what can I give her to show my appreciation?" That's earl, brother.

ask Andy

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of World Book Encyclopedia to Pat and Sue Spore, age 10, of Nashville, Tenn., for their question:

Do many readers ask the same question? Now with all of us bursting with the same curiosity, it is natural for lots of us to ask the same questions. And these popular questions are the most interesting ones. Andy likes you to read what he writes, naturally. So—he chooses the popular questions, the ones asked by lots of readers. This presents a problem. Only one reader's question can be selected from perhaps 20 who asked the same question.

If you are growing up, really growing up, you will not feel sad or mad because your question was answered for someone else. If you really want to know the answer, you will read it and enjoy it. Then you will write Andy another question and maybe another and another. You can ask him a billion questions, and, who knows, one of them may be selected. Send them on cards, clearly written, especially your name. So many readers have very handsome signatures, but Andy cannot read them.

'It's Always Feast or Famine' In Homes Suitable for Adoption

By MARGE GILROY
There is either a feast or a famine of adoption homes at Family and Children's Service.

Last week there was a famine and social workers stood by helplessly with seven children waiting for a home.

This week there is a feast, at least a feast of interested parents, and an extra social worker has been called in to help receive the calls.

The ink had not yet dried on the last paper rolling off the press carrying an appeal for adoption homes when the phone rang at Family and Children's Service.

It was a call from parents in Duncan who had just read the appeal. That was call No. 1 and it had to be referred to the Provincial Social Welfare Branch, which is in charge of all adoption placements in the province outside Vancouver and the Greater Victoria area.

40 INTERESTED
Since then approximately 40 interested couples have contacted Family and Children's Service. But unfortunately this does not mean that 40 homes are immediately available.

Out of four calls, one couple may change their mind, another may want a child of a certain race, religion and age and another may not be considered suitable parents for an adopted child. This immediately reduces the number of prospective homes to 25 per cent.

Consequently what appears to be a feast today may not be so tomorrow. The need for prospective adoptive homes continues.

Immediately a couple who want to provide a home for a child and live outside the Greater Victoria area want to know why can't we have a child — "what difference does it make where we live?"

WORKER RESPONSIBLE
Placing a child in a home for adoption is an extremely important responsibility. When a child is placed in a home a social worker, in a sense, is responsible for that child's future. Her choice must be a wise one.

An intensive study of the home is made to make sure that the parents are fully aware of what they are doing. Are they conscious of the fact that the child is more than likely illegitimate and possibly of mixed race and are they prepared to tell the child he is adopted? It is not infrequent that parents change their mind during this time.

Also, just as a mother prepares for a child over a period of nine months, social workers believe that adoptive parents need time to become conditioned to the thought of a new child in the home.

CLOSE RELATIONSHIP
These are some of the reasons why there are boundaries on the field of adoption. An intensive program of this sort can only be carried out in an organized area where there is close relationship between social worker and family.

Supervisor of child welfare, Miss Hattie Staghall, said "people don't realize what is involved in adopting a child. Why, once I even had a couple from Hawaii who thought they could come here and adopt a child."

Even in such remote cases she is always hopeful that another home might possibly be suitable, therefore she put their name and address on file.

Last week's appeal persuaded many couples to call even though they had children of their own. But still needed are Roman Catholic homes and parents without racial prejudices who are willing and want to take a child of mixed race.

The social worker's job is to find a home for the child not a child for the home.

TB Sweeps Eskimos' Shack Town

OTTAWA (CP)—Poor housing and gross overcrowding contributed to a savage outbreak of tuberculosis in an Eskimo shack town afflicting 24 per cent of the population of 329, the Northwest Territories council heard Wednesday.

A January x-ray survey at Eskimo Point, on the Hudson Bay west coast 165 miles north of Churchill, Man., revealed 55 new active TB cases including 33 aged under 10 years.

A further April survey bared another 21. A third is in progress.

The toll so far is 80 cases and two deaths, said a report prepared by Dr. P. E. Moore, director of medical services for the national health department. "Before treatment services have ended for these patients, $500,000 of public funds will have been spent and the economic and social life of this village scarred for years to come," it said.

It represents just a small but expensive sample of what could happen across this country if we do not keep up our defences against this ancient killer.

But the most striking feature of the report aside from the illness and death toll was a series of pictures of the hut and snowhouse shelters in which 82 families were jammed into 64 dwellings.

"If you feel a bit queasy after these pictures," added the Moore report, "believe me when I say that many of us who have worked with these people are sick to our hearts as we see the regular expenditure of thousands of dollars of public money and thousands of hours of dedicated effort with so little result."

STANDING ROOM ONLY has been the order for appearances by Ottawa-born pop singer Paul Anka in Poland. The 22-year-old star is on an eight-day concert tour. Tickets for his performances have been priced up to $3.76. The average Polish worker earns about $11.66 a month.

Victorians Will See Unveiling

A Victoria man and his best friend's widowed mother will travel together to Vancouver this weekend.

There they will see a memorial plaque unveiled to Gregory Thomas — her son, his best friend.

Norm Messerschmidt, 948 Falmouth, knew Thomas ever since Thomas moved here from Cranbrook about 25 years ago.

Thomas graduated from St. Louis' College, the Provincial Normal School, and the University of B.C.

He went on a three year tour of the world, teaching in various countries as he went, then came back to B.C. about three years ago and started to teach at St. George's School in Vancouver.

He was head of the French department there for two years.

Last summer, Thomas died of meningitis after a short illness. He was 36.

On Sunday, St. George's School will unveil a plaque to him, and Norm Messerschmidt and Mrs. Gregory Thomas, Senior, will be special guests.

Woman Fights to Keep Her Family Together

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Vancouver woman said Wednesday she will seek to appeal the sentence of her recently-convicted husband so he can be reunited with their five-year-old leukemia-stricken son.

Mrs. Carol McDonald said she has had many offers of help from neighbors and friends since her husband, Gordon, 35, was jailed for six months Friday for stealing from his employer.

The husband said he took the money to buy toys for Bradley who was found a year ago to have leukemia.

Mrs. McDonald claimed that McDonald, the child's stepfather, also used the money to help pay for Bradley's treatment without her knowledge.

Meanwhile, a specialist in charge of the boy's case, said he is responding well to treatment although it is the last course of known treatment for leukemia.

The mother, who wants to appeal her husband's sentence, said offers of help have included cash donations which will be used to make restitution to the motel where her husband had been employed as a desk clerk.

'BEAT-UP RAGGEDY ANDYS'

WIRE BRIEFS

Peron's Boys Blamed

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Bombings and shootings shook this capital Wednesday night and today. Police blamed resurgent backers of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron and other nationalist groups.

Leaders Meet

PARIS (AP)—President de Gaulle of France and West German Chancellor Erhard met for 90 minutes in man-to-man private talks today. Erhard said later the atmosphere was "very good."

Newspapers Closed

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI)—Military leaders of South Viet Nam's revolutionary government closed two newspapers today and announced formation of committees to investigate alleged abuses by the regime of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Arson Feared

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—A general alarm fire destroyed the Surt Theatre and threatened a chemical plant here early today, and police investigated the possibility it had been set intentionally.

Rail-Wage Talks

MONTREAL (CP)—Negotiations from seven railways and unions representing 80,000 of their non-operating employees met today for almost two hours in the opening round of talks aimed at reaching agreement on a new labor contract.

VANCOUVER — Saskatchewan Roughriders, a team twice placed in a football coffin, rose again Wednesday night.

The medium was a 13-8 victory over British Columbia Lions in mud and snow that tied the Western Football Conference best-of-three final.

The Lions and Riders meet here again Saturday afternoon to decide who will represent the West in the Nov. 30 Grey Cup.

Roughriders are a bunch of "beat-up raggedy Andys" held together with adhesive tape—almost a mile of it—but they keep on winning games and astounding oddsmakers.

They won their way to the final round by overcoming a 26-point deficit to beat Calgary Stampeders in the semifinals. After losing to Lions, 19-7, in the series opener Saskatchewan went into Wednesday's game at Empire Stadium as 16-point underdogs.

Not Supermen; Not Really

"These guys aren't superhuman; they're not supermen who have been working miracles."

"Sure they're a bunch of beat-up, raggedy Andys..." A number of the Riders are still bruised up from previous games but no serious injuries were suffered by the team Wednesday night.

Lions also avoided injuries as the underdog Riders handed B.C. its first home loss of the season. "I don't think we

Again, the "raggedy Andys" confounded the experts.

The "Raggedy Andys" tag came from Saskatchewan coach Bob Shaw, who admits he doesn't know how his team does it, injuries and all.

Trainer Sandy Archer admits he's been keeping the team together with adhesive tape.

"For every game," he said, "I go through 56 rolls of large-size tape, a dozen cans of elastic bandages and 36 rolls of three-inch adhesive."

Said Coach Shaw: "You just don't explain how we've kept coming back and winning when—so the experts keep saying and writing—we should not be."

hit anyone hard enough to get hurt," was the wry comment of Lions' coach Dave Skrien.

Skrien refused to be harsh on end Jerry James, the six-foot-five end who dropped four crucial passes.

"It was just one of those things." "Jerry just didn't catch the ball on three critical situations, any one of which might have won the game for us. I don't recall ever seeing a man drop

OLD WOMAN'S DEATHBED WISH

Horses, Ponies to Be Destroyed

POLEGATE, England (AP)—Eighteen healthy horses and ponies face execution because of a 68-year-old woman's deathbed wish.

"It's monstrous that they should be killed," said Richard Groome, 63, instructor at the riding school which owns the animals. "They are all fit and healthy."

Some years ago Mrs. Winifred MacPherson and her friend, Janet Bell, founded the Wayfaring Downs Riding School.

Before she died last week, Mrs. MacPherson made Miss Bell—now 84—promise to have the horses and ponies destroyed. She repeated her wish in her will.

Miss Bell promised to comply when the stables close. They are expected to shut down Saturday.

"I've been a lover of horses all my life," said Miss Bell,

THREE DAYS FOR FREE—MAYBE

VANCOUVER (CP)—About 34 Saskatchewan Roughriders fans today accepted an offer by a downtown hotel to gamble their hotel bills on whether the Riders win the Western Football Conference final.

Frank Baker, owner of the Georgian Towers Hotel, said that any Saskatchewan fans staying at the hotel for Wednesday's game would not have to pay should Riders win the final.

"After Saskatchewan beat the Lions Wednesday night, most of the Saskatchewan fans agreed to stay on until Saturday's final game," said Mr. Baker.

"I don't really know whether it was because of the hotel's offer. It looks more likely they were glad Saskatchewan was still in the final and they just wanted to hang on for Saturday's game."

What happens if Riders do win the game Saturday to represent the west in the Grey Cup?

Diplomats To Be Freed

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—United Nations Secretary-General U. Thant said he was informed that Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula would release today two Soviet diplomats seized in Leopoldville on Tuesday.

Thant said the action was taken after he had delivered strong appeals to Adoula to apply accepted procedures of diplomatic protection and immunity in the case.

Searchers Race Time

PENTICTON (CP)—The search for a U.S. Air Force pilot missing in snow-covered mountain country near here has become a race against time.

Search officials say Ft. Lt. Robert Boucher, 25, of Spokane, has three days' emergency rations left. His radio battery would have gone flat days ago.

Boucher has been missing since last Thursday when he apparently bailed out before his Scorpion F-89 jet crashed 40 miles south of here on the northern Cascade Mountains.

"but I can say no more. I'm sorry."

She said she planned to have the horses "put to sleep." Miss Bell has refused to say why her partner wanted the animals killed.

Spy Plane Wreckage Found

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—The wreckage of a WU-2 spy plane which vanished Wednesday presumably after a mission over Cuba, was found today in 100-foot-deep water in the Gulf of Mexico. The body of the pilot was not in the cockpit.

An air-sea search by navy and coast guard planes and surface craft was continued for the pilot, Capt. Joe G. Hyde Jr. of Lagrange, Ga.

Capt. Ernest H. Dunlap, chief of staff to the commander of the Key West navy base, said two navy salvage vessels had reached the wreckage and determined that the pilot was not in the cockpit.

Earlier, the coast guard cutter Nemesis had reported finding debris at the spot 40 miles northwest of Key West and 180 miles north of the coast of Communist Cuba.

It was at this place, at 10:32 a.m. Wednesday, that Hyde's plane vanished from radar scopes, and where another aircraft eight minutes later reported sighting an oil slick.

At Strategic Air Command headquarters at Omaha, a spokesman said it was believed that the crash was caused by mechanical failure. Both SAC and the defence department said there was no evidence of hostile action against the plane.

The Cuban radio reported merely that a WU-2 "which might have been on reconnaissance activities over Cuba," had crashed in the gulf, presumably because of "a mechanical fault."

United Front Urged

MONTREAL (CP)—Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labour Congress, called on Canadian workers today to form a united front against the Seafarers' International Union (Ind.), which he described as a union in name only.

Speaking in French, he told the opening session of the Quebec Federation of Labour's annual convention that the CLC is an autonomous labor body which "refuses to agree that the labor movement be controlled by people who want nothing but its destruction, whether they be Communists, Fascists, Nazis or gangsters."

A united front was more necessary now than ever "because our adversaries are the same from one end of the country to the other."

"Reactionary interests are seeking to demolish our movement," Mr. Jodoin said. "All Canadian workers must join hands and co-operate in establishing the greatest possible uniformity in working conditions and social welfare benefits."

THIEVES TAKE 6 HOURS TO PICK 'CHOICE' FURS

MONTREAL (UPI)—Discriminating thieves broke into a cold storage plant, handcuffed the night watchman to a post and systematically rifled 100 vaults of the choicest furs they could find early today.

Adrien Baillargeon, president of the J. B. Baillargeon Express and Storage Company in east-end Montreal, said the thieves spent six hours "picking the best furs they could lay their hands on."

He said it would take until Friday, after hours of inventory checking to determine the exact amount stolen.

Congo Expels Embassy Staff

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Premier Cyrille Adoula tonight ordered the entire staff of the Soviet Embassy to leave The Congo and announced that two Russian diplomats under arrest would be expelled within 48 hours.

Adoula told a news conference that his move did not mean he was breaking relations with the Soviet Union.

He added that his government had seized documents proving the embassy was supporting an anti-government plot designed to overthrow his regime by force.

Adoula said the documents were found on embassy counselor Boris Voronin and press attache Yuri Malkotnykh who were arrested by Congolese gendarmes Tuesday.

The announcement came after state security officers earlier today arrested still a third Russian—Benik Beknazar-Yuzbashev, correspondent for the Soviet Novosti news agency, who arrived only a month ago to open a bureau in Leopoldville.

Earlier in the day, a dispatch from Moscow reported that the Soviet Union sent a formal note to the Congo government protesting the arrest of the two Soviet diplomats and "other outrages" against the Russian embassy.

The official Soviet Tass news agency said the note was handed to The Congo charge d'affaires in Moscow by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

CAMBODIA CONFERENCE PROPOSED

(See also page 3)

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (Reuters)—Head of state Prince Norodom Sihanouk today followed up his cancellation of United States aid by proposing a 14-nation conference to guarantee the Southeast Asian state's neutrality.

The prince said the conference could be held in Rangoon, Burma or Jakarta, Indonesia, and did not have to be in Geneva.

LIBERALS DON'T LIKE IT EITHER

Gordon Tax Change Bill Under Fire by Senators

OTTAWA (CP)—Income Tax Act amendments proposed in Finance Minister Gordon's June 13 budget ran into a wall of Liberal and Conservative opposition in the Senate Wednesday.

Main criticism was aimed at a proposed change in withholding taxes on dividends paid to foreign companies by their Canadian subsidiaries. The tax is to be stiffened for firms that do not have at least 25 per cent Canadian ownership.

Senator Salter Hayden (L.-Ontario), Toronto corporation lawyer, attacked this amendment although he was chosen by government leader W. Ross Macdonald to explain the amending bill to the House.

In his opening remarks, Senator Hayden said he would explain the provisions of the bill and what they are intended to do. He said he would not express any opinion as to whether the provisions will work.

JOIN CRITICISM

Fire Kills Hired Arsonists

CADILLAC, Que. (CP)—Police Chief Roland Raby said Wednesday two men fatally burned in a gasoline explosion made death-bed statements that they had been hired to burn down a home in this community 50 miles east of Kirkland Lake, Ont.

He said Andre Bureau, 38 and his brother-in-law Fernand Massicotte, 31, made the statements before dying in a Rouyn, Que., hospital Sunday where they had been admitted after flames destroyed the empty home of a 74-year-old Yves Legendre, a hospital patient.

Chief Raby said he believed the furnace thermostat switched on while the men were saturating the basement with gasoline, causing an explosion.

Blizzard Snarls Travel in Alberta

LETHBRIDGE (CP)—A howling blizzard abated early today leaving a 22-inch blanket of snow, snarled traffic, closed schools and plugged roads in the Crownstee Pass area, west of here.

Reports from the area said schools at Blairmore and Bellevue closed because of the blizzard.

Highway department equipment worked throughout the night to keep highway three open to traffic. Most country roads were blocked with drifts, some reported seven feet high.

Victoria is still within the cold air mass that has plunged the rest of the continent into an unseasonal deep-freeze, but the maritime fringe indicates moderation tonight and Friday.

Overnight Wednesday temperatures in the 35-degree range may drop to below freezing by as much as seven degrees to-night, rising to a maximum 45 Friday.

Skies will be partly clear, with possible showers, and southeast wind at 20-25 mph, veering to the west Friday afternoon.

Chased Across Border

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Three Soviet jet fighters shot down an unarmed Iranian plane 18 miles inside Iranian territory after it accidentally strayed into the Soviet Union, official government reports said today.

Two aerial survey officials aboard the plane were killed and the pilot was badly injured.

The plane, on a photographic mission in connection with a land redistribution project in northeast Iran, lost its way Wednesday and flew into Soviet territory, the reports said.

The reports said the Soviet jets ordered the plane to land on a Soviet air strip. The pilot, however, found he was short of fuel and flew back into Iranian territory, the reports added.

The three jets then followed the Iranian plane and fired on it near Dargaz in Iran. The plane was reported to have caught fire and exploded in the air.

CONDUCT SURVEY

The aerial survey officials were identified as employees of the cartographic organization conducting the land reform survey.

The plane was downed while Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev was in Iran on an official visit.

News of the incident spread through the Iranian Parliament today as Breshnev addressed a joint session on improved Iranian-Soviet relations. The president said the Soviet government and people are greatly satisfied with the removal of the "darkness" from their relations with the Soviet government.

The land reform survey is being made in the Khorasan region bordering the Soviet Union and Afghanistan.

Closed Circuit Television Praised Here as Useful Teaching Aid

By TERRY MATTE
Closed circuit television is practical and economical when used as a teaching aid, a group of science teachers here was told Wednesday night.

John Mathews, educational television consultant for the B.C. Telephone Company, which rents the equipment, told the Victoria chapter of the B.C. Science Teachers' Association that the use of closed circuit TV in the classroom would not reduce the number of teachers needed, but would assist them in maintaining a high standard of instruction.

"The classroom teacher is a necessity, not as a babysitter but as a reinforcement," he said.

"The teacher, partially freed from teaching duties, may more closely observe how well the students are absorbing the material."

Mr. Mathews illustrated the various applications of television in education by demonstration and by showing a film prepared in the U.S.

He said the use of TV in schools is still largely experimental, but said studies have indicated closed circuit television, used in conjunction with regular classroom teachers, is as effective or more effective than the present system.

Such an installation would

A closed circuit system could also be used to police hallways, lunchrooms and washrooms, he added.

He said a system might be started by installing one stationary transmitter in a classroom to show small objects, diagrams and displays on a single monitor.

The programs could be delivered via cable to a large number of classrooms throughout the entire school district.

Mr. Mathews said this would enable teachers specializing in one subject to reach a large audience. The classroom teacher would receive an advance outline of the lesson, and could be directly involved in the lecture when it is transmitted.

Lessons could be recorded on video tape, easily edited and stored for future use, Mr. Mathews said.

When questioned about the relative cost of video tape and film, he said tape is cheaper ($35 for an hour program), more flexible and can be used up to 250 times.

Arthur Mayse

After searching my conscience for blemishes the other morning, I dropped in as a non-paying guest at Central Magistrates Court, where I found that the mills of justice grind brisk as ever. Their trappings have altered considerably since I last observed them, though.

For one thing, the courtroom in our handsome new Saanich police headquarters doesn't smell right. It lacks the traditional legalistic odor of ancient varnish, dust, and stagnant air. A search of ante-rooms and corridors also failed to turn up a single big brass cuspidor.

But from between Red Ensign and Union Jack, the Queen still gazes with an impartial eye upon those who administer her laws and those who bust them; the witness box is no more tempting a spot to linger than it ever was; and the bench still places in his hands a decent few minutes later.

His honor on the day of my visit was Magistrate J. A. Byers, who came to Victoria after extensive service as a colonial judge in British India. The blue pullover worn under his jacket against the nip of a chilly day failed to detract from the dignity that goes with clipped grey mustache and judicial bearing.

Judge Byers sported no gown. Neither did his court functionaries nor the three lawyers present on behalf of absentee clients. Magistrate's court is the funnel through which all Criminal Code charges must pass. It hasn't time for flourishes.

The docket was pretty humdrum, no big fish in the police net. Except for one citizen who looked every inch an indignant taxpayer, none of the customers seemed of a mind to make the court extend itself.

"Guilty," they pled, in voices thick or thin, and stood like erring students before a principal to receive judgment. Mostly, these were up for traffic offences. Their sentences ranged from a $250 fine and six months' suspension to a $10 levy which the offender paid from his hip pocket to the officer who sat alongside the press table with a thick receipt book before him.

Of the others, a heavy majority asked time to pay, and in only one case they were refused.

This exception was a silky polite young man with white socks, unruly hair, and an eye bright as any jaybird's. His weakness was a veritable mania for parking too long in the wrong places, then failing to pick up the tab.

Hard to find, he had been fetched in on a bench warrant. His summonses made such a deck that, as they changed hands, city prosecutor Peter Burkett and court clerk Bob Davidson appeared to be using the long blue papers as cards in a private game.

The boy accepted the price of folly amiably. But his smile faded when the magistrate decided it might be best if he paid before leaving. Out he went to telephone for rescue, a constable a step behind.

We had on the bill of fare a fuel truck without mud-flaps, a brace of sailors with their shoes buffed to a mirror shine, and a sending of Island Highway speculans nabbed by a highly-effective radar trap which just might still be operating on the other side of the Malahat near Mill Bay. These last were the RCMP's gift to the central court.

Also, as icing on an otherwise drab cake, we had a worried but attractive girl who won't be long for this world if she doesn't mend her ways.

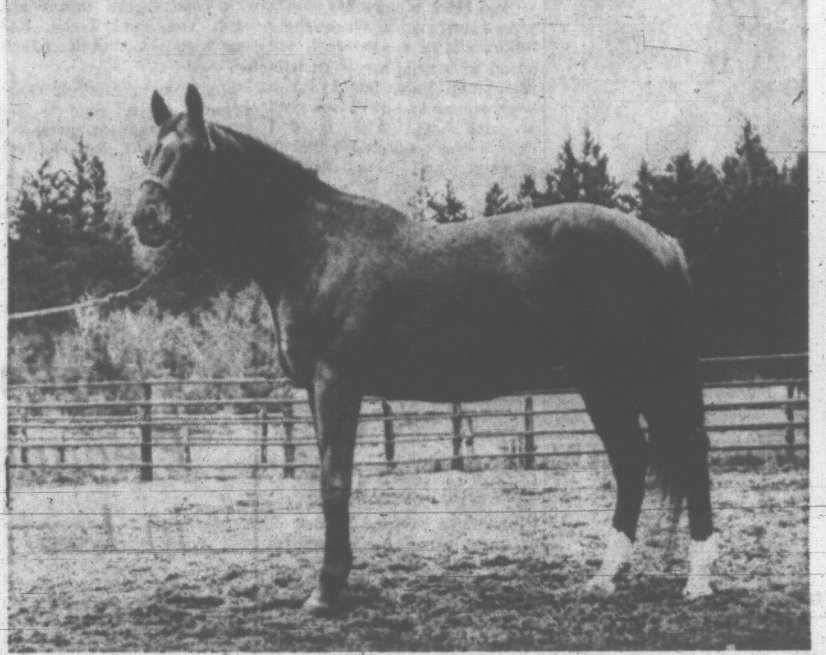

The charge sheet set forth that not only did she beetle along Burnside Avenue at 23 miles over the legal 30, but that she did pass three other cars on a hill.

How fast did she think she was going, Magistrate Byers asked, after the accused had mouse-squeaked her guilty. She didn't know, she was in a hurry.

And what if a car had come over the brow of the hill while she was in the wrong lane?

Reply inaudible — mildly-delivered sentence a fine and a month without wheels — result, a fearful exit.

So it goes in magistrates court: big sinners not too frequent but little ones by the shoal. And should you ever make one before His Honor, he will be most obliged if you speak your 'Guilty' loud and clear.

He'll Found a Dynasty

Thoughts of foals frisking in fields of green seem far fetched at this bleak time of the year, but many horse-owners are turning their mind's eye in that direction. Bookings are being made for breeding next year, and one of the best prospects in B.C. for Thoroughbreds is a stallion who now calls Victoria his home. He is Splendido, the handsome chestnut shown above who is standing at stud at the stables of Roy Jewell at 728 Beaver Lake Road. Splendido, who was purchased as a yearling for $31,000, has been leased by the Darshan racing stable with Jewell as handler. The big nine-year-old who scored his first win at Golden Gate and was a winner also at both Del Mar and Bay Meadows, has an impressive ancestry. His sire, Ardan, was a stake winner in England and France, and has produced many stake winners. The dam was Boudoir 2nd of Mahmoud-Kampala M stock who has thrown many illustrious foals. ## Christmas Ferry Trips Increased

British Columbia Ferry Authority will increase its sailings on major routes for Christmas.

Officials estimate the rush will begin Dec. 20. The Tsawwassen-Swartz Bay service will provide hourly trips both ways Dec. 20, 21, 22, 23, 24 and 25. Christmas Day and the New Year holiday will see two-hour service, the regular winter schedule, in effect.

The Horseshoe Bay-Nanaimo (Departure Bay) service will be bolstered by four extra trips each way on the dates listed. The same applies to the Horseshoe Bay-Langdale service through Howe Sound.

Officials are hoping for smoother sailing weather — smoother than that which occurred Tuesday when winds of over 50 miles per hour swept the Gulf of Georgia.

During the period, dining rooms were closed on some vessels to avoid spills.

Mayor Sets Up 3-Way Harbor Improvement Meeting in Ottawa

Mayor R. B. Wilson today arranged for a joint federal-provincial-civic discussion in Ottawa next month intended to start the ball-rolling towards improvement of the Inner Harbor.

The mayor won agreement for a preliminary meeting from federal public works department officials during his visit to Ottawa last week with the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities executive to present a brief to the cabinet.

He also won approval from provincial government sources this morning.

The meeting will be held Dec. 17 in Ottawa when Mayor Wilson and provincial representatives attend the next meeting of the Canada Centennial Committee set up by the federal government.

age of his Ottawa trip to meet department of transport officials to urge them to expedite previously announced plans to centralize marine activities in the Inner Harbor and build a multi-million-dollar headquarters building.

The department has marked time ever since the plans were announced and city council is concerned that it may be abandoned.

"I am hopeful that a representative from Ottawa will visit Victoria in the near future to examine the whole situation further," the mayor said in reporting his interview with Ottawa officials.

Navy Wins Red Feather 'Citation'

The navy won a "unit citation" Wednesday from United Appeal campaign chairman John Wallace.

The boys in blue not only met their objective, they oversubscribed it by 25 per cent.

The navy contributed $10,116 after steaming past the goal of $8,000 and last year's gift of $5,912.

Mr. Wallace told a campaign meeting that the RCN has shown leadership to all of Greater Victoria, the more remarkable because to many sailors this is not home, but an adopted community.

He congratulated Capt. Dick Leir, navy representative on the United Appeal campaign committee.

$33,000 SHORT
Overall, the fund drive is still $33,000 short of its $400,000 target, just approaching the 92 per cent mark.

The appeal ends its campaign Friday and officials expect to have collected $378,000 by that time. Late returns from some canvasser divisions are expected after the deadline, however.

The money goes to 24 welfare and community service agencies whose work is estimated to touch the lives of one in every six Greater Victoria residents.

Pair Remanded In City Court On Alleged Fraud

An ex-soldier and a moving company executive, charged with conspiring to defraud the Canadian treasury of more than $500, today in city police court were remanded to Dec. 3 for continuation of a preliminary hearing.

Gary Albert Warrington Pope, formerly of the PPCLI at Work Point, and Leonard Bieller, president of Blue and White Transfer, are charged jointly.

The Crown alleges that the treasury paid, on behalf of the defence department, for the transfer of Pope's furnishings and household effects from 1002 Carberry Gardens to Winnipeg, his place of enlistment.

Police claim that someone later requested the move be made only as far as Surrey, but the original warrants for payment went through anyway.

POPULATION NOW 1,708,000 UP 38,000 IN PAST YEAR

B.C.'s population increased 38,000 during the past year. This is one of the fastest rates of growth in Canada. There were 1,708,000 people in B.C. on Oct. 1, date of the latest survey by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

This is 2.3 per cent more than in 1962, a rate of growth equalled only by Alberta and Newfoundland.

The slowest growth was in Saskatchewan, where the population increased only 4,000 to 935,000.

Canada's population tops 19,000,000, an increase of 1.8 per cent over 1962.

The figures were circulated in this month's report of the provincial trade department.

Tide Rips Dump Hog Fuel Barge

4th Mishap For Company Since June

Heavy winds and tidal rips near Trial Island capsized an Island Tug and Barge Ltd. scow at 4:15 p.m. Wednesday, dumping its cargo of hog fuel into Juan de Fuca Strait.

The barge, ITB 34, was one of two under tow to the Anna B. Gore, bound from Sooke to Crofton.

When wind and wave combined to attack the tow, the cargo of hog fuel (sawmill waste) settled in to a compact mass at one side of the scow, finally forcing it over in a complete flip.

The accident was spotted by the lightkeeper at Trial Island. Island Tug sent a small harbor tug out to relieve the Anna B. Gore of her overturned scow so she could proceed to Crofton with the other.

The ITB 34 was towed into the Inner Harbor later Wednesday, and was tied up alongside the CPR refit-jetty. A diver carried out underwater survey today, and found no damage.

Salvage work was to begin today. A complicated combination of weight applied by bottom mud and an A frame derrick barge was expected to put the scow right-side up again.

The ITB 34 is of wooden construction, 130 feet long and 38 feet in beam, built in 1943.

The cargo she was carrying, dubbed "hog fuel" is the logging business, is useful only if mixed with oil and used as fuel in pulp and paper mills.

EARLIER LOSSES
This was the fourth accident to scows or barges under tow to ITB tugs since June, when a boxcar barge loaded with fruit and vegetables turned over, also near Trial Island. In this case, the barge was holed by an unseen underwater object.

ITB also lost a tanker off Coos Bay, Oregon, and a similar craft near Cape Flattery. Both these accidents were due to very heavy weather.

Guns to Fire
Fifteen Field Regiment RCA will carry out firing practice at the Albert Head range from 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and 9 to 11 a.m. Sunday.

Weapons used will be 105 mm howitzers, firing to seaward.

PETERSON JUGGLES RULES TO STRETCH YULE HOLIDAY

Education Minister Leslie Peterson has played hopscotch with the laws to allow a longer Christmas holiday for B.C. school children.

He announced in Vancouver Wednesday that the back-to-school day has been extended from Jan. 3 to Jan. 6.

Mr. Peterson was according to a request from parents and teachers which, he said, "seems reasonable."

School regulations specify that Christmas holidays must end Jan. 3.

That's a Friday next year, which meant returning to school for one day and then off again for the weekend.

In order to circumvent the regulations, Mr. Peterson declared Jan. 3 a school holiday, which he is allowed to do under other regulations.

CD PLANNER SPEAKS

U.S. Arena Blast 'Just Negligence'

The disastrous arena explosion that killed or hurt 370 persons in Indianapolis Halloween night was "just criminal negligence," an Ottawa civil defence planner told a hospital disaster institute here today.

Dr. William S. Hacon, hospital services medical consultant for the health and welfare department, used the Indiana blast as an example of hospital preparedness without community planning.

He spoke to 60 delegates at Vancouver Island hospital disaster institute which opened a two-day session at Empress Hotel. It is the second in a series of five between 1963 and 1965 in various B.C. centres.

Participants tonight were to see a full-scale simulated disaster treatment program at Royal Jubilee Hospital, where 100 victims of Memorial Arena collapse were to be taken.

ATTENDED MEETING
Dr. Hacon was in Indianapolis last week, spoke to people who had been in the blast, saw the shattered arena, and attended a disaster planning meeting.

He said the explosion was caused by propane gas in a popcorn concession beneath the concrete seats and enclosed by concrete walls.

Tanks were stored in such a way that radiant heat from a popcorn machine expanded the gas and set off a safety valve on the propane cylinders.

"This is just criminal negligence," the doctor said. "Perhaps I shouldn't say this—the coroner hasn't delivered his verdict yet."

WELL ORGANIZED
The official said individual Indianapolis hospital emergency plans were well organized, but there was no community plan to co-ordinate them, bring in ancillary services or indicate the scope of the disaster, to help in the distribution of patients.

He urged hospital representatives to have a disaster plan in advance and get the community in on it.

"Hospitals cannot work in isolation," Dr. Hacon said.

Dr. A. A. Larsen, B.C. director of emergency health services, said plans should cover situations from nuclear attack to local power failure.

Community disaster could strike any time, not just in nuclear target areas, he said.

Health Minister Eric Martin, in opening the institute, referred to many natural disasters that could spark a hospital emergency plan into action.

"The course itself is designed primarily for the hospital administrators or matrons, the nursing supervisors and the chiefs of medical staff."

"It is our hope that when you return to your hospitals you will set to work immediately to organize a disaster plan — that is if you do not already have one," the minister said.

Area Labor Group Enters Esquimalt Campaign Scrap

By JOHN MIKA

Esquimalt's uncharacteristic but entertaining political ruckus continued growing today and appeared certain to be the eye-catcher of all Greater Victoria election campaigns next month.

The controversy over alleged silencing of an RCN officer as spokesman for a voters' group boiled over with a demand by Victoria Labour Council that Reeve A.C. Wurtele explain or resign.

Reeve Wurtele, meanwhile, announced he will face his reelection rival Coun. Bert Nelson in a close-quarter debate if it is arranged by a non-partisan group.

Coun. Nelson said he would be happy to have a public debate with the Reeve.

"I'll attend any meeting, I'm not ashamed of my stand," he said, referring to a motion he seconded at the last council meeting to censure the Reeve.

DEFINITE RIGHT
"I feel that servicemen have a definite right, and are encouraged, by the services, to express their opinions on municipal affairs," he said.

"I was in the navy 20 years and I know that servicemen should stay out of federal or provincial politics.

"But civic affairs is a different thing entirely. It is not partisan politics — it deals with how your own home is treated."

Reeve Wurtele said he will stand on his record and pointed out there is no election issue aside from the attack on himself.

Mrs. Edith Gunning, president of the Association of Women Electors, said her organization would be happy to arrange such a meeting but "only if all candidates agree to attend it."

The VLC resolution was based on suggestions that Reeve Wurtele went to Rear-Admiral W. M. Landymore to force Lieut. Percy Boyd to quit as spokesman for the Esquimalt Voters' Association, a newly-formed group backing a slate opposed to the Reeve.

The resolution said such a charge dealt with dangerous

procedures infringing on civil rights and freedom of speech."

B.C. Federation of Labour vice-president E. T. Staley said the council should try to find out exactly what occurred.

"If this took place and this man's position was threatened it would be a mighty dangerous thing to have happen in Canada," he said.

William Gauld, Canadian Labour Congress representative, told the labour council he only knew what he had read in the papers.

"But if this is true, it is wrong that a man be suppressed. We have always championed the underdog and believe a man has the right to support the candidate of his choice," he said.

TOPICS of the DAY

Mrs. Gladys Souleby, who is the official delegate of the Victoria Natural History Society, will attend a conference of the British Columbia Natural History Council, which is being held at UBC on Saturday.

Also attending is Eric Garman of the Thetis Lake Nature Sanctuary Association, Bruce Dabitt from the Cowichan Valley Natural History Club and Freeman King of the Victoria Natural History Society.

Patrick Hardy, managing director of the Canadian Audubon Society at Toronto, will be a special guest.

Future development of downtown Victoria was described in an illustrated lecture by city planner Roderick Clack to members of a small business-man's course in school board adult education program Wednesday at Oak Bay Junior Secondary School.

He touched on trends in shopping habits toward the city centre.

Next to address the course, which is sponsored jointly by the Chamber of Commerce and federal trade and commerce department, will be capital region planner Anthony Roberts.

The course still has Wednesday vacancies, but is booked solid Tuesday nights.

B.C.'s party planners will hold their first meeting next week.

They are to plan B.C. celebrations for the Canadian Centenary in 1967.

The meeting, next Friday, is of the Canadian Confederation Centenary Committee of B.C., chaired by Deputy Provincial Secretary L. J. Wallace.

Mr. Wallace said the meeting will lay the ground rules for special centennial projects. It will be asking local communities to submit ideas next year.

Christmas is coming to Canada, Japanese-style, aboard the Ms. Lloyd Bakke Saturday morning.

When the big Knutsen line ship docks at Ogden Point, she will begin unloading the first Mandarin oranges of the season. To mark the occasion, the ship will be met by Koichi Isuka, Japanese vice-consul in Vancouver, and William Chant, minister of public works.

The "Y" Men's Club will meet at the YMCA today at 6:30. Clint Fotheringham, the organizer for civil defence in B.C., will speak on rescue, first aid, and civil defence.

Official opening of the new $33,000 wing of the Saanich Memorial Health centre, will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. Formerly the Royal Oak Hospital, the centre accommodates needy patients from the municipality of Saanich.

The new wing was added during the summer.

IN SENATE

Gordon Tax Bill
Under Fire

OTTAWA (CP)—Income Tax Act amendments proposed in Finance Minister Gordon's June 13 budget ran into a wall of Liberal and Conservative opposition in the Senate Wednesday.

Main criticism was aimed at a proposed change in withholding taxes on dividends paid to foreign companies by their Canadian subsidiaries. The tax is to be stiffened for firms that do not have at least 25 per cent Canadian ownership.

Senator Salter Hayden (L.-Ontario), Toronto corporation lawyer, attacked this amendment although he was chosen by government leader W. Ross Macdonald to "explain" the amending bill to the House.

In his opening remarks, Senator Hayden said he would explain the provisions of the bill and what they are intended to do. He said he would not express any opinion as to whether the provisions will work.

JOIN CRITICISM

Senator Hayden was joined in his criticism of the bill by Senator M. Wallace McCutcheon (PC—Ontario), noted Canadian industrialist, and Senator Thomas Crerar (L.—Manitoba), a one-time Liberal cabinet minister and a director of several large companies.

When the tax bill was introduced in the Commons, Mr. Gordon said it was a move designed to encourage foreign parent companies to permit a minority share.

THIEVES TAKE 6 HOURS TO PICK 'CHOICE' FURS

MONTREAL (UPI)—Discriminating thieves broke into a cold storage plant, handcuffed the night watchman to a post and systematically rifled 100 vaults of the choicest furs they could find early today.

Adrien Baillargeon, president of the J.-B. Baillargeon Express and Storage Company in east end Montreal, said the thieves spent six hours "picking the best furs they could lay their hands on."

He said it would take until Friday, after hours of inventory checking, to determine the exact amount stolen.

PENTICTON (CP)—The search for a U.S. Air Force pilot missing in snow-covered mountain country near here has become a race against time.

Search officials say Ft. Lt. Robert Boucher, 25, of Spokane, has three days' emergency rations left. His radio battery would have gone flat days ago.

Boucher has been missing since last Thursday when he apparently bailed out before his Scorpion F-89 jet crashed 40 miles south of here on the northern Cascade Mountains.

VANCOUVER (CP)—About 34 Saskatchewan Roughriders fans today accepted an offer by a downtown hotel to gamble their hotel bills on whether the Riders will win the Western Football Conference final.

Frank Baker, owner of the Georgian Towers Hotel, said that any Saskatchewan fan staying at the hotel for Wednesday's game would not have to pay should Riders win the final.

"After Saskatchewan beat the Lions Wednesday night, most of the Saskatchewan fans agreed to stay on until Saturday's final game," said Mr. Baker.

"I don't really know whether it was because of the hotel's offer. It looks more likely they were glad Saskatchewan was still in the final and they just wanted to hang on for Saturday's game."

What happens if Riders do win the game Saturday to represent the west in the Grey Cup?

It'll cost the hotel about $1,200, said Mr. Baker.

How to Die—Again!Fire Kills
Arsonists

CADILLAC, Que. (CP)—Police Chief Roland Raby said Wednesday two men fatally burned in a gasoline explosion made death-bed statements that they had been hired to burn down a home in this community.

He said Andre Bureau, 38, and his brother-in-law Fernand Massicotte, 31, made the statements before dying in a Rouyn, Que., hospital Sunday where they had been admitted after flames destroyed the empty home of a 74-year-old Yves Legrand, a hospital patient.

Chief Raby said he believed the furnace thermostat switched on while the men were saturating the basement with gasoline, causing an explosion.

Chief Raby said a well-known man from Rouyn, Que., was being questioned.

CONGO BOUNCES
SOVIET EMBASSYPremier Charges
Anti-Gov't Plot

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Premier Cyrille Adoula tonight ordered the entire staff of the Soviet Embassy to leave The Congo and announced that two Russian diplomats under arrest would be expelled within 48 hours.

Adoula told a news conference that his move did not mean he was breaking relations with the Soviet Union.

He added that his government had seized documents proving the embassy was supporting an anti-government plot designed to overthrow his regime by force.

Adoula said the documents were found on embassy counselor Boris Voronin and press attache Yuri Maikotnykh who were arrested by Congolese gendarmes Tuesday.

The announcement came after state security officers earlier today arrested still a third Russian—Benik Beknazar-Yuzbashev, correspondent for the Soviet Novosti news agency, who arrived only a month ago to open a bureau in Leopoldville.

Earlier in the day, a dispatch from Moscow reported that the Soviet Union sent a formal note to the Congo government protesting the arrest of the two Soviet diplomats and "other outrages" against the Russian embassy.

The official Soviet Tass news agency said the note was handed to The Congo charge d'affaires in Moscow by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Spy Plane
Wreckage Found

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—The wreckage of a WU-2 spy plane which vanished Wednesday presumably after a mission over Cuba, was found today in 100-foot-deep water in the Gulf of Mexico. The body of the pilot was not in the cockpit.

An air-sea search by navy and coast guard planes and surface craft was continued for the pilot, Capt. Joe G. Hyde Jr. of Laramie, Wyo.

Capt. Ernest H. Dunlap, chief of staff to the commander of the Key West navy base, said two navy salvage vessels had reached the wreckage and determined that the pilot was not in the cockpit.

Earlier, the coast guard cutter Neches had reported finding debris at the spot 40 miles northwest of Key West and 180 miles north of the coast of Communist Cuba.

It was at this place, at 10:32 a.m. Wednesday, that Hyde's plane vanished from radar scopes, and where another aircraft eight minutes later reported sighting an oil slick.

At Strategic Air Command headquarters at Omaha, a spokesman said it was believed that the crash was caused by mechanical failure. Both SAC and the defence department said there was no evidence of hostile action against the plane.

The Cuban radio reported merely that a WU-2 "which might have been on reconnaissance activities over Cuba," had crashed in the gulf, presumably because of "a mechanical fault."

United Front
Urged

MONTREAL (CP)—Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labour Congress, called on Canadian workers today to form a united front against the Seafarers' International Union (Ind.), which he described as a union in name only.

Speaking in French, he told the opening session of the Quebec Federation of Labour's annual convention that the C.L.C. is an autonomous labor body which "refuses to agree that the labor movement be controlled by people who want nothing but its destruction: whether they be Communists, Fascists, Nazis or gangsters."

A united front was more necessary now than ever "because our adversaries are the same from one end of the country to the other."

"Reactionary interests are seeking to demolish our movement," Mr. Jodoin said. "All Canadian workers must join hands and co-operate in establishing the greatest possible uniformity in working conditions and social welfare benefits."

Blizzard Snarls

LETHBRIDGE (CP)—A howling blizzard abated early today leaving a 22-inch blanket of snow, snarled traffic, closed schools and plugged roads in the Crownest Pass area, west of here.

Reports from the area said schools at Blairmore and Bellevue were closed because of the blizzard.

Highway department equipment worked throughout the night to keep highway three open to traffic. Most country roads were blocked with drifts, some reported seven feet high.

Victoria is still within the cold air mass that has plunged the rest of the continent into an unseasonal deep-freeze, but the maritime fringe indicates moderation tonight and Friday.

Overnight Wednesday temperatures in the 35-degree range may drop to below freezing by as much as seven degrees tonight, rising to a maximum 45 Friday.

Skies will be partly clear, with possible showers, and southeast wind at 20-25 mph, veering to the west Friday afternoon.
